

Rachel Greszler is a Senior Research Fellow in the Plymouth Institute for Free Enterprise at Advancing American Freedom (AAF). She is recognized as an economic expert in workforce, Social Security, pensions, family policy, and fiscal policy. Greszler's research focuses on policies that promote economic growth, personal freedom and well-being, and fiscal sanity.

Prior to joining Advancing American Freedom, Greszler was a senior research fellow at the Heritage Foundation, a visiting fellow at the Economic Policy Innovation Center, and a senior economist on the staff of the Joint Economic Committee of the U.S. Congress.

Greszler holds master's degrees in economics and public policy from Georgetown University and a bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Mary Washington, where she currently serves on the Board of Visitors.

