

Justin Draeger
NASFAA President & CEO

Justin Draeger Justin Draeger is President and CEO of the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators. He serves as the primary voice of NASFAA and as the liaison between 3,000 financial aid offices and Congress and the federal government. Most of Justin's career has been devoted to assisting disadvantaged populations achieve their educational goals and better their communities. For the last 15 years, Justin has been engaged in administering, interpreting, and developing student financial aid policy. His prior experiences include working as a financial aid director and regulatory and policy analyst. He has held senior positions overseeing government relations, communications, and public policy work. Justin is frequently quoted in the press and has appeared on The Today Show on NBC, National Public Radio, APM's Marketplace, Fox Business News, CNBC, and C-SPAN, and is often quoted in national news outlets. Justin currently serves on the boards of directors of Baker College, the Association Mutual Health Insurance Company, and other organizations that promote health and education. He earned his undergraduate from Brigham Young University and his MBA from Baker College.