

Bio for Linda Miller

Linda Miller is the Co-Founder and Chair of the Program Integrity Alliance (PIA), a non-governmental organization whose mission is to strengthen integrity and data-driven fraud prevention in the U.S. for a more trustworthy, effective, and efficient government.

She is a national authority on fraud prevention and detection, with over 16 years of experience that spans both public and private sectors. Linda served as the Deputy Executive Director of the Pandemic Response Accountability Committee and led the Government Accountability Office's development of the Fraud Risk Management Framework.

Linda's influential work extends to the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO) Fraud Risk Management Guide and contributing to the Fraud Reduction and Data Analytics Act. A sought-after speaker and media commentator, she has been featured in outlets like the Economist, NBC News and Business Insider.