

Gillian Schauer, PhD, MPH is the Executive Director of the Cannabis Regulators Association (CANNRA), a nonpartisan association of government agencies involved in cannabis and hemp regulation across 45 states and U.S. territories. Dr. Schauer was elected CANNRA's first Executive Director in 2021 and served as a Senior Advisor to CANNRA before the association's founding.

Dr. Schauer has worked in public health and policy for nearly two decades and has more than a decade of experience working with federal and state agencies on cannabis policy, data monitoring, and research translation, including work with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the National Institutes of Health, and several states. Through her federal work, she founded and led the Multi-State Collaborative for Cannabis and Public Health from 2014-2021 to foster learnings and cultivate best practices for public health across states with legal cannabis.

Prior to working on cannabis policy, Dr. Schauer worked on tobacco control policy. She was the Senior Editor on the 2020 Surgeon General's Report on Smoking Cessation. Dr. Schauer is an affiliate researcher at the University of Washington and has more than 70 peer-reviewed research publications on cannabis and other substances. She has a PhD from Emory University, a Master of Public Health from University of Washington, and a Bachelor of Science from Northwestern University.
