

Jamesa Johnson-Greer, J.D. is Executive Director for Michigan Environmental Justice Coalition. She is a creative, thoughtful leader with over 10 years of experience in cross-disciplinary research, technical writing and grassroots advocacy focused on environmental justice, community and human rights. Jamesa is a graduate of Wayne State University Law School and is also an Alumna of the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor, where she earned a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies with a focus on Global Health and the Environment. As a native Detroit, Jamesa is passionate about protecting society's most impacted people and places through advocating for transformational systems change and that is exactly what she does alongside her team, coalitional partners and community members.