

Congresswoman Susan Wild

Congresswoman Susan Wild has called the Lehigh Valley home for over 30 years, where she built a successful legal practice as a working mother while raising her two children. In 2015, Susan became the first woman appointed as Allentown City Solicitor, and in November 2018, she was elected as the first woman to represent Pennsylvania's Seventh Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Rep. Wild serves as Ranking Member on the House Ethics Committee; on the House Foreign Affairs Committee as Ranking Member of the Subcommittee on Global Health, Global Human Rights, and International Organizations and on the Subcommittee on Europe; and as a member of the House Education and Workforce Committee's Health, Employment, Labor, and Pensions Subcommittee.

Fighting for quality, affordable health care for all, creating an economy that works for working people, returning the U.S. to the cutting edge of manufacturing, and reforming our political system to return government to the American people are the issues that drive Rep. Wild's service in Congress.
