

Mr. Christopher Skinner currently serves as the Inspector General for the Federal Election Commission (FEC). In this position, he is charged with detecting and preventing fraud, waste, abuse, and other violations of the law, and to promoting economy, efficiency, and effectiveness in the operations of the FEC. He is an active member of the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency (CIGIE), serves on the Inspector General (IG) Candidate Panel vetting interested candidates for Presidential IG Appointments, and is an active member on the CIGIE Legislative, Technology, and Budget Committees.

Mr. Skinner brings 15 years of experience in the federal inspector general community, including conducting investigations, inspections, and evaluations. He previously served as the Deputy Inspector General for the Office of Naval Research (ONR) for six years, including a year as its Acting Inspector General. Prior to that appointment, Mr. Skinner worked as Assistant Chief of Inspections for the Naval Facilities Engineering Command in Washington, D.C.

He has extensive investigative experience including, but not limited to, investigating allegations of workplace harassment, questionable intelligence activities, conflicts of interest, scientific research misconduct, hostile work environments, travel fraud, and ethics violations. He also served as the Chief Inspector and team lead on inspection teams that identified and corrected compliance issues and recommended process improvements at numerous government organizations.

Mr. Skinner holds a Master of Business Administration from the University of Mary Washington and a Bachelor of Business Administration from Radford University. In addition, he completed the Office of Personnel Management Federal Executive Institute Leadership Program and is a certified Inspector General for the Association of Inspectors General. He has a proven track record in building relationships and delivering results. He brings contagious energy, unrelenting professionalism, and a devoted work ethic to the OIG community.

Mr. Skinner currently resides in Virginia with his wife and two children. In his spare time, he enjoys coaching youth soccer and basketball and outdoor activities with his family.