

Short Biography

Satya Thallam is currently Senior Vice President of Government Affairs at Americans for Responsible Innovation, and a Senior Fellow with the Foundation for American Innovation.

He has previously been a policy official within the White House Office of Management and Budget and at the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs. In both roles he was focused on federal rulemaking and regulatory reform.

He was previously a doctoral student in Economics at Emory University, Research Faculty at the George Mason University Scalia Law School, and a policy advisor at the law firm Arnold & Porter.