

Bio

Daniel Ortiz is the outreach director for Policy Matters Ohio. A native of Lorain, Ohio and graduate of Oberlin College, Ortiz joined Policy Matters in 2016 and brings 14 years' experience in organizing, campaign strategy and education. Before his work with Policy Matters Daniel worked at the local, state and national level leading campaigns and managing key partnerships across the Midwest and the South. Since returning to Ohio, Daniel can be seen advocating for policies that increase equity, promote good government and help vulnerable communities. He draws from experience as a teacher, work as a campaign data professional and experience developing programs with key stakeholders to best connect Policy Matters research with the community.

