Congressman Ben Ray Luján represents New Mexico’s Third Congressional District. Congressman Luján grew up in Nambé, a small farming community north of Santa Fe bordered by Nambé and Pojoaque Pueblos. He currently serves as the Assistant Speaker in the 116th Congress and is the highest-ranking Hispanic in Congress. He is a member of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, sitting on the Health Subcommittee, Consumer Protection and Commerce Subcommittee, and the Communications and Technology Subcommittee. Congressman Luján represents his diverse district by serving as a Vice-Chair of the Native American Caucus and as a member of the Congressional Hispanic Caucus. Congressman Luján’s district is home to 15 Pueblos, the Navajo Nation, the Jicarilla Apache Nation, as well as several land-grant communities.
