

Rev. Bob Fu, Ph.D, was a former student leader during the Tiananmen Square democracy movement in 1989. In 1993, he graduated with a law degree on international relations from Renmin University of China in Beijing. He was a faculty member at the Beijing Party School of the CCP from 1993-1996. He was also a house church leader in Beijing until he and his wife, Bochun "Heidi" Cai, were imprisoned in 1996. In 1997 he was exiled to the U.S. In 2002, he founded ChinaAid in Philadelphia to promote religious freedom and rule of law in China. He graduated with Ph.D. from St. John's College at the University of Durham in the U.K in the field of religious freedom. His autobiography, "God's Double Agent", was published in 2013 by Baker Publishing Group. His academic book "The Politics of Inclusive Pluralism" was published by Wipf and Stock Publishers in 2021. Bob regularly testifies and briefs US and foreign policymakers and legislators on religious freedom, foreign policy, national security and rule of law as well refugee issues in the free world. In 2019 and 2023, Bob Fu hosted two Taiwan International Religious Freedom Summits in Taiwan along with Freedom House, Heritage Foundation and two Taiwan hosts. Bob Fu is a recipient of William Wilberforce Award by the Colson Center(2020-2021). In 2022 he received the “Frank Wolf International Religious Freedom Award” by the 21st Century Wilberforce Initiative. He is a member of Task Force on National Security and Foreign Policy as well as Policy on Asian Affairs of the Heritage foundation. He serves as Senior Fellow on International Religious Freedom of Center for International Liberty at Family Research Council, Washington DC. He is a life member of Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) and Editor-in-Chief of the Chinese Law and Religion Monitor journal.