Tim Stronge is Chief Research Officer at TeleGeography. His responsibilities span across many of TeleGeography's research practices including network infrastructure, bandwidth demand modeling, cross-border traffic flows, and telecom services pricing.