Biography

Department of the Army

Charles R. "Ray" Alexander, Jr.

Director of Contingency Operations and Chief, Office of Homeland Security
Headquarters
U.S. Army Corps of Engineers
Washington, DC

Mr. Ray Alexander is the Director of Contingency Operations and Chief, Office of Homeland Security, Headquarters, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE).

As Director of Contingency Operations he leads a dynamic team of military and civilian professionals and an organization with a diverse array of missions across the enterprise and around the globe. The Directorate of Contingency Operations provides command and control of USACE civil and military contingency operations during disaster incident response and recovery, ensures the readiness of critical teams and equipment, leads the development of contingency doctrine and plans in support of interagency partners and both Combatant and Service Component Commands, oversees execution of current operations and planning for future operations, provides oversight of the command's force protection and physical security program, and monitors intelligence operations that support contingency plans development and execution.

As Chief, Office of Homeland Security he leads programs and missions in support of the Departments of Homeland Security, Defense, and Army. He serves as the agency's principal executive to assist Federal, state and local emergency management and response organizations in preparing for, responding to, and recovering from any emergency or all-hazards disaster to include mitigating risk associated with future events. His portfolio includes programs in flood risk management and critical water resources infrastructure.

Appointed to the Senior Executive Service in November 2014, Mr. Alexander has over 38 years of combined federal and private sector experience. Previously he served as Chief, Interagency and International Services (IIS), at Headquarters USACE.

Mr. Alexander became a Department of the Army Civilian in 2011, serving at Headquarters, USACE, initially as the Deputy Operations Officer (G3) followed by service as the Deputy Chief, Office of Homeland Security. From 2013 – 2014 he was Senior Director for Response Policy on the National Security Council Staff, in the Executive Office of the President. Before joining civil service, Mr. Alexander was in the private sector for over 5 years. He retired from the U.S. Army at the rank of Colonel in 2005 after more than 28 years of service.
