

Zealan Hoover

Senior Advisor to the Administrator
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

Zealan Hoover is a Senior Advisor to the EPA Administrator. Since September 2021, he has led EPA's agency-wide implementation of more than $100 billion in programs authorized under the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law and the Inflation Reduction Act. Prior to that, he worked in the private sector advising organizations on a wide range of strategic and operational matters with an emphasis on decarbonization and managing climate risk. From 2013-2017 he worked at the White House first on the Domestic Policy Council and then in the Office of the Chief of Staff where he supported President Obama's domestic and international climate agenda. Hoover graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he was a Morehead-Cain Scholar.