

SUE VEER, MBA

BIO

Sue Veer has served as the President and CEO for Carolina Health Centers, Inc. (CHC) since 2006. CHC serves as the medical home for over 26,000 patients with 16 primary care practices and two community pharmacies located throughout a seven-county area of South Carolina known as the Lakelands.

In addition to her senior leadership of the health center, Sue has developed and conducted organizational development and training programs for health care organizations for over 40 years and currently serves as the principal consultant for consulting services offered by CHC. A primary area of expertise is strategic planning and leadership development, and Sue has facilitated related organizational development projects for numerous health centers and PCAs during the 20 years she has been part of the health center community.

Sue has developed significant expertise related to C-suite leadership of health center 340B pharmacy programs. She has presented 340B training programs for community health centers coordinated by the Primary Care Organizations in 22 states, participated as a lead contributor to the development of the NACHC 340B Compliance Manual, and served as faculty for the Apexus 340B University. Sue has testified on behalf of community health centers at 340B hearings convened by both Senate and House committees.

Sue is an active member of the National Association for Community Health Centers (NACHC), with long standing participation on the Legislative, Rural Health, and Health Policy Committees. She also serves as the current chair of the Membership Committee, co-chair to the Pharmacy Policy and Operations Subcommittee of NACHC's Clinical Practice Committee and has been appointed by the Chair to serve on NACHC's Task Force for Undoing Racism. Sue is serving a two-year term on the Executive Committee of the NACHC Board of Directors in office of Secretary.

Sue holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business and Communication from Carlow College in Pittsburgh, PA, completed course work in pursuit of a Masters in Adult Education (M.Ed.) at Pennsylvania State University, and earned her MBA from Winthrop University in Rock Hill, SC. Prior to joining Carolina Health Centers, Ms. Veer served as Associate Executive Director of the South Carolina Primary Health Care Association where she gained extensive knowledge in health policy and health center management. Her professional background includes leadership positions in the private practice and community hospital environment, as well as at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.
