1. The transition to a green economy presents the U.S. with incredible workforce opportunity but also, of course, workforce disruption.
 - a. How should Congress be proactively thinking about support for workers, families, and communities that have depended on the fossil fuel industry for jobs and economic development for generations?
 - b. How do we ensure a ‘just transition’ for those communities and workers as well?

The Honorable Jeff Duncan (R-SC)

1. Ms. Pramaggiore - Nuclear energy like the Oconee nuclear plant in my district will help keep the energy transition for more renewables that we’re seeing today affordable & reliable. Maintaining the reliability that exists today on 100% renewables will be very costly.
 - a. How is a 100% renewable approach to energy going to serve communities in scenarios where they can’t afford it? Can an economically diverse workforce be achieved if the energy powering it is unaffordable? If so, how?
