ANTHONY S. DAVIS
Interim Dean and Professor

Anthony S. Davis is the Interim Dean of the College of Forestry at Oregon State University, broadly recognized as one of the world's leading forestry research, teaching, and extension institutions. Serving as the chief executive of the College of Forestry since January 2018, Dr. Davis articulates the College's vision to stakeholders and constituents and ensures that progress is made towards academic and operational missions.

Under his leadership, the College of Forestry continues its strong tradition of working collaboratively to:

- craft research projects with the active involvement of multiple partners representing different perspectives,

- translate new discoveries into tools and techniques that can be used to advance livelihoods and sustain ecosystems.

Academically, Dr. Davis serves as a Professor in the Department of Forest Engineering, Resources, and Management and is known for his research and outreach related to native plant seedling quality and the application of this work in improving outplanting success following disturbance or degradation. This global program continues with active partnerships across the Pacific Northwest, Caribbean, Africa, and the Middle East.

Dr. Davis has a Bachelor of Science in Forestry from the University of New Brunswick, and a Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy from Purdue University. He joined Oregon State University in the fall of 2016.

College of Forestry

Oregon State University

As the senior leader for the College of Forestry at Oregon State University, North America's top ranked forestry research program and a recognized leader in teaching and extension, I oversee all aspects of the College's annual ~$45M in operations. I provide strategic direction and vision from which the College leadership team shapes decisions while ensuring we operate effectively. I am also responsible for initiating and managing strategic external partnerships to engage the community, and our industry and political collaborators, in delivery of the mission and objectives of the College. As a member of the Provost's Council of Deans, I engage in university-wide initiatives that further the teaching, research, and outreach mission of our land-grant institution.

Working goals developed for FY20:

- Goal 1: Provide an environment in which students thrive. College of Forestry students come from all backgrounds, beliefs, and interests and are able to build on curiosity around, and respect for, our natural and managed lands as they chart unique and shared pathways towards degree completion and a meaningful life in an inclusive and supporting academic environment.
- Goal 2: Foster faculty and staff advancement. Our College community is respectful, supportive, deliberate, and progressive. We are broadening traditional silos of research, teaching, and outreach to ensure all members of our community identify with the delivery of our mission.
- Goal 3: Maintain academic and program units that are operationally healthy in their organization, financial support, and staffing. The College of Forestry is able to invest in key initiatives and promote work across traditional disciplinary and operational boundaries to advance the science of forestry through transparent and stringent budget and policy administration and a commitment to sound and inclusive governance.

Significant projects and accomplishments

- Restructured College of Forestry budget and supporting architecture to increase transparency in operations by clarifying revenue sources, obligations, and expenses; balanced FY20 budget after several years of deficit spending
- Developed the "Future of Forestry" scholarship program to use a capacity-based pricing model to direct recruiting and discounting strategy to grow enrollment where existing courses and degrees most need students while aligning with the College's mission (year over year has tripled applications to the College)
- Regularly serve as keynote or invited speaker at regional activities, host donor engagement activities, and convene regular within-college meetings and events (both formal and informal) to support the College of Forestry community

- Direct the $80M Oregon Forest Science Complex construction project
- Provide testimony and offer guidance to state and federal leaders regarding forest conservation and management
- Developed (and launched in the silent phase) the College of Forestry's $113M fundraising campaign
- Secured, through the state legislature, an annual $1M to support Wildfire extension activity across the State of Oregon
- Initiated the vision and charge for the potential Elliott State Research Forest (ESRF). As the State of Oregon looks to divest of this 82,500 AC forest, it is seeking to find a purchaser (@$121M). The College of Forestry is exploring the capacity for this to serve as a transformative hub for research into forest conservation and management for generations to come

Prior positions

- Associate Dean for Research (2016-2018)
College of Forestry
Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR
Lead the strategic development and execution of innovative, effective, and respected research programs that support the regional, national, and international distinction of the College of Forestry. Managed the research-related activities of the College and the Forest Research Laboratory and worked directly with the Dean to achieve the research mission of the Institute for Working Forest Landscapes. Provided timely, cost effective, and knowledgeable support to faculty, administrators, students and staff. Oversaw sponsored research programs, fostered collaborations, identified new and grew existing funding opportunities, and managed complex pre- and post-award issues to ensure that the College's >$10M annual research expenditures are managed appropriately.
