

Jim Matheson
Chief Executive Officer
National Rural Electric Cooperative Association

Jim Matheson is Chief Executive Officer of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA), the national service organization that represents the nation's more than 900 not-for-profit, consumer-owned electric cooperatives. NRECA members provide service to 42 million people in 48 states. Jim joined NRECA in 2016 following distinguished careers in both the public and private sectors.

Prior to joining NRECA, Jim served as principal, Public Policy Practice, for the international law firm Squire Patton Boggs, based in Washington, D.C.

From 2001 to 2015, Jim was elected to serve as a United States Representative from Utah for seven terms. During his tenure on Capitol Hill, Jim was known as a legislator who was able to work with colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

Jim was a Chief Deputy Whip for the House Democratic Caucus and served as co-chairman of the Blue Dog Coalition. He was a member of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, as well as the Financial Services, Transportation and Infrastructure, and Science committees. Prior to entering government service, Jim worked in the energy industry for several years.

Jim serves on the board of directors for Sallie Mae and the United States Association of Former Members of Congress. He also has served on the Federal Communications Commission's Broadband Deployment Advisory Committee.

Jim was born and raised in Salt Lake City, Utah. He received a bachelor's degree in Government from Harvard University, and an MBA in Finance and Accounting from UCLA. Jim's wife, Amy, is a pediatrician, and they have two sons, William and Harris.
