

Tom Hassenboehler is a Co-Founder and Managing Partner with CO2EFFICIENT, a mission-based strategic consultancy focused on advancing public policy and market solutions in the energy and environmental sectors. Located in Washington, D.C., CO2EFFICIENT is a leader in developing transformational 21st century climate policies that integrate environmental sustainability and corporate governance with digital technology solutions. Tom has a career history of being at the center of many of the major energy and environmental laws and debates of the last decade. From 2013-2017, he served as the Chief Counsel for Energy and Environment at the U.S. House Committee on Energy and Commerce under Chairman Greg Walden (R-Oregon). During his time in the House, he led and managed the issues and staff under the jurisdiction of the Subcommittees on Energy and Environment. He also often represented the Committee in international bilateral and multilateral meetings and Conferences, including multiple delegations related to energy trade, exports, and international climate policy. Before his roles in the U.S. House, he worked in the private sector as the Vice President of Policy Development and Legislative Affairs for America's Natural Gas Alliance, a trade association representing 30 of the nation's largest independent oil and gas producers. Tom's earlier experience was in the Senate as Counsel for the Committee on Environment and Public Works under Ranking Member Jim Inhofe (R-Oklahoma). He began his career working on various issues that led to the formation of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 and Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007 for the Energy and Commerce Committee under former Chairman Billy Tauzin (R-Louisiana) and Joe Barton (R-Texas). A native of New Orleans, Tom received both his undergraduate and juris doctorate degrees from Louisiana State University.
