Attachment—Additional Questions for the Record

The Honorable Gus Bilirakis

1. One of the great challenges of health care is the issue of price transparency. Health care is one of the biggest sectors of our economy where no one knows the cost of a service. Under a co-pay system, a patient could know the cost of a medical service in advance, but that cost does not necessarily represent the total actual cost of the service. Under a co-insurance system, a patient might not know the cost of a service until after the service is performed. When designing a new benefit structure, how can we increase the level of transparency in the system so beneficiaries can know what their costs will be before they even visit the doctor?
2. Traditional Medicare Fee for Service operates in two different silos, Part A & B, without either part talking to each other. Medicare Advantage provides a comprehensive benefit with coordination between hospital and outpatient settings. Do we have data evaluating Medicare Advantage against traditional fee-for service? From your perspective, what lessons from Medicare Advantage can we apply to redesigning traditional Medicare?
