1. Dr. Grossman – Maternal Mental Health conditions are the second leading cause of death in Georgia, but the leading cause of maternal mortality in the United States. It is estimated that when left untreated these conditions cost the state of Georgia over $600 million each year and impact over 25,000 families. MMRC's have identified maternal mental health conditions as the second leading cause of death in Georgia. How do we ensure that providers are properly trained to screen and treat maternal mental health conditions?
