Well known in the industry as an early adopter, BendBroadband launched high speed internet in 1997, converted to all-digital in 2008 and rolled out LTE 4G wireless broadband over licensed spectrum to rural areas in 2012. In 2011 the company opened the first colocation data center in the U.S. to receive the Uptime Institute's Tier III certification for design and construction. The facility is carbon neutral and LEED Gold certified and is home to cloud services for the B2B sector in the region. In 2009 the company was rebranded to amplify localism. The comprehensive effort has successfully resonated with customers in the region and "We're the local dog. We better be good" campaigns have won awards.

Tykeson is the 2007 recipient of the Distinguished Vanguard Award and will be inducted into the Cable Hall of Fame in 2013. She Chairs the Rural Systems and Small Operators' Committee as a member of the NCTA Board of Directors and serves on the Board of Directors for CableLabs and CSPAN. In addition, she is a Trustee of the Tykeson Family Charitable Trust, Associated Oregon Industries and Economic Development for Central Oregon. Amy was appointed by the Governor to serve on the Oregon Health Sciences University Board. She is a Vistage International member and is involved on numerous local committees and with lobbying efforts. Tykeson got her start in 1980 with Home Box Office, serving ultimately as VP of Area Marketing in New York. She was the 1986 President of Women in Cable & Telecommunications (WICT). She has earned the CTAM Mark Award, the WICT Accolades Award and the Wonder Woman Award. She was named Independent Cable Executive of the Year by Multichannel News in 2007 and CableFax Magazine in 2008. In 2010 Tykeson received the Edwin B. Parker Enduring Achievement Award at the Oregon Connections Telecommunications Conference.
