In our state, Republicans and Democrats came together to #SaveTheInternet and protect #NetNeutrality. Why can't we see this same bipartisanship in the U.S. House?

Thanks to WA's leadership, glad that our state's students, families & businesses will still have access to a free & open internet—but we must continue to raise our voices until @FCC restores #NetNeutrality protections for consumers across the nation.

Net neutrality ends nationwide, remains in Washington
Federal net neutrality rules ended Monday, but any changes in Washington could be quickly challenged by a new state law. spokesman.com

Washington just became the first state to pass net neutrality regulations in both chambers!

At the federal level, in the other Washington, I will continue to fight for an Internet that is accessible and open to all.

Former FCC Commissioner Mignon Clyburn

"...Washington state's new net neutrality law underscores what we all know: that a substantial majority of the public is in favour of net neutrality protections. I commend Governor Inslee and the Washington state legislature for listening to their constituents and ensuring that the citizens of Washington continue to experience a free and open internet."
