Co-founder and CEO
Fubo

David Gandler is Co-founder and CEO of FuboTV Inc. (NYSE: FUBO), whose mission is to build the world's leading global live TV streaming platform with the greatest breadth of premium content and interactivity.

Under David's leadership, Fubo aims to transcend the industry's current TV model. The company's sports-first live TV streaming platform, Fubo, is live in the U.S., Canada and Spain. In France, Fubo operates Molotov, the market's leading live TV streaming platform.

Fubo's proprietary data and technology platform is optimized for live TV and sports viewership. With Fubo, consumers can choose a lean back viewing experience or, through interactive product features, engage with the content they are watching. The company has also been regularly first to market with advancements to its streaming product. Fubo was the first vMVPD to enable simultaneous viewing on up to four screens (Multiview on Apple TV), and launched 4K streams back in 2018 - years ahead of other vMVPDs.

Forbes named Fubo to its Next Billion Dollar Startups list in 2019, one year ahead of the company's listing on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) in October 2020.

Prior to founding Fubo in 2015, David had a prolific advertising career with more than 15 years of video sales in local broadcast and cable TV within both the general and Hispanic market, including at Scripps Networks Interactive, Time Warner Cable Media Sales and NBCUniversal's Telemundo Media.

An active leader in the global sports industry outside of Fubo, David is co-owner of soccer team Paris FC and currently serves as a trustee for the United States Olympic & Paralympic Foundation.

David has been named among Goldman Sachs' 100 Most Intriguing Entrepreneurs (2019) and Variety's Dealmakers (2020, 2019).
