Biographical Summary

Bettina Experton, M.D., M.P.H.

CEO and Founder of Humetrix

July 11, 2016

Dr. Bettina Experton brings proven entrepreneurship and a passion for empowering consumers to revolutionize healthcare to her role as founder and CEO of Humetrix, a privately held company based in Del Mar, California. A multi-specialty trained physician in internal medicine, pediatrics and public health she is very familiar with the challenges both patients and their healthcare providers face as they manage their care in a complex healthcare environment.

Dr. Experton brings to the field of Healthcare Information Technology (HIT) a unique combination of experiences as a former practicing primary care and specialty physician, health services researcher, and technologist author of seven issued and pending HIT patents. She founded and managed five healthcare companies including three HIT companies which developed ground breaking consumer facing applications from smart cards in the early 2000s to multi-award winning smartphone applications over the last five years.

Dr. Experton has served as a national healthcare policy advisor in the US, Asia and Europe, and has been a recognized health services researcher in the area of outcome research of the high risk/high cost patients covered by Medicare, Medicaid and managed care. She has also served, as a Public Health officer for the State of California, is an Adjunct Assistant Professor of Medicine at the University of California San Diego School of Medicine and a permanent member of the faculty of the School of Medicine, Paris, France where she graduated summa cum laude.

Dr. Experton serves as a member of the Consumer Technology Association (CTA) Health & Fitness Board and as a member of the CTA Medical Advisory Subcommittee. She is actively engaged in the U.S. HIT policy debate, serving as a strong advocate for consumer health information access.
