David Borris owns Hel's Kitchen Catering in Northbrook, which he opened in 1985 with his wife Cari, as a small homemade food store in Highland Park. Over the years, they expanded into a full service catering business employing 33 full time and over 80 part time and seasonal workers. David and his wife raised their three now adult children, Benjamin, William and Kate in Highland Park, where David has been active in the community on a variety of civic causes. David has also been active throughout the North Shore and greater Chicagoland area on matters relating to small business and its critical role in healthy communities as well as issues revolving around economic & social justice.

David currently sits on the executive board of the Main Street Alliance, a national organization of small business owners who speak for themselves on issues that impact their communities and their bottom line.
