Vice President, WW Customer Trust and Partner Support
Amazon

Dharmesh M. Mehta is the Vice President for Amazon's Customer Trust and Partner Support (CTPS) organization. This team is responsible for creating a trustworthy shopping experience across Amazon stores worldwide by protecting customers, brands, selling partners and Amazon from fraud, counterfeit, and abuse as well as empowering, providing world-class support, and building loyalty with Amazon's millions of selling partners.

Dharmesh joined Amazon in October 2013 and prior to leading CTPS, he was a part of the WW Marketplace organization, leading teams responsible for building tools and services that help third-party sellers create thriving, successful businesses through selling in Amazon's stores.

Dharmesh has spent the majority of his career delivering technology-driven innovations in a variety of product and engineering leadership roles. Prior to Amazon, Dharmesh was at Microsoft where he was the product and marketing leader for Outlook.com and OneDrive, has founded an educational start-up that built online attendance, grades and other back-end administrative solutions for large schools districts, and worked in strategy consulting at Bain & Company. Dharmesh has also worked as an independent contractor for the U.S. Department of Defense.

Dharmesh is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), where he earned a B.S. in Computer Science and Electrical Engineering, a B.S. in Finance, a minor in Economics, and an M. Eng. in Electrical Engineering & Computer Science. He also holds an MBA with high distinction from Harvard Business School.
