“A Level Playing Field: College Athletes’ Rights to Their Name, Image, and Likeness”
September 30, 2021

Mr. Ramogi Huma, Executive Director, National College Players Association

The Honorable Jeff Duncan (R-SC)

1. In answering a question from Rep. Clarke, you stated that 50 percent of all college athletes suffer chronic injuries. Can you please provide your source for this assertion?

Response: Yes:

- Simon JE, Docherty CL. Current health-related quality of life is lower in former Division I collegiate athletes than in non-collegiate athletes. Am J Sports Med. 2014;42(2):423–429
- <https://www.sciencedaily.com/releases/2014/03/140303083208.htm>

2. In answering a question from Rep. Clarke, you stated that universities including your alma mater, UCLA, require student-athletes to purchase the school’s insurance policy and garnishing a scholarship check to pay for that. Are you asserting that is the policy of UCLA today? Or the policy of any PAC-12 institution? If so, please provide documentation for that assertion.

Response: Yes. I’ve included a copy of UCLA 2021-22 current athlete policy (see p. 7) that states in part, “Health insurance is mandatory for all UCLA students. A fee for the University of California Student Health Insurance Plan (UC SHIP) will be assessed each academic term as part of registration fees.”

USC has a similar policy in its 2021-22 athlete handbook that states in part, “All USC Students must show proof of health insurance coverage at the beginning of the academic year. Students who are enrolled in a private health insurance plan may waive enrollment in the USC Student Insurance program by completing the waiver form and providing proof of insurance to the Student Health Insurance Office. A student who does not have health insurance or does not waive out of the USC Student Health Insurance Plan, will be automatically enrolled in that plan.” (page 21 of athlete handbook attached).

3. You stated in your testimony that “You still have a situation in sports where a player can lose their scholarship if they're permanently injured. A school can choose to not renew that scholarship.” In January 2015, the Autonomy conferences voted to adopt rules prohibiting any scholarship from being reduced or eliminated for athletic reasons (see Rules 15.3.5.2 and 15.3.5.3). Will you acknowledge that student-athletes at the 65 universities in autonomy conferences have a protection that contradicts your assertion? Are you aware of any Division I institution that currently has a practice that is consistent with your assertion? If yes, please provide examples.

Response: Unfortunately my statement is accurate is not contradictory. The vast majority of colleges do not belong to the 5 Autonomy conferences. There are approximately 285 NCAA Division I colleges that do not belong to the 5 Autonomy conferences. There are also about 307 NCAA Division II colleges that fall outside the 5 Autonomy conferences and provide athletics scholarships. So only about 65 of approximately 657 NCAA colleges provide athletic scholarships in NCAA sports belong to the Autonomy conferences.

Colleges whose conferences have not adopted such a policy currently have the option to refuse to renew the athletic scholarships of permanently injured athletes. There are no NCAA rules to prevent it because the majority of colleges want this option. This is not an oversight, it is by design. These issues have been discussed for at least 20 years and NCAA colleges are well aware of this topic. I have been contacted by Division I athletes whose scholarships were not renewed and other Division I athletes who are threatened with scholarship loss if they don't play with serious injuries.

Also, the NCPA has been contacted by Autonomy conference athletes and athlete family members whose experience contradicted the Autonomy conference's pledge to maintain scholarships for injured players. For instance, one injured athlete was reportedly being harassed and encouraged by the athlete's coach to quit after sustaining a knee injury. The athlete was told by the doctor that the athlete would not be cleared for her sport. The trainer then told the athlete that the athlete's scholarship could be taken away because it was too expensive for the school.

Another Autonomy conference athlete sustained an injury that was ultimately deemed career-ending, but not before the athlete was reportedly pressured to play and train on the injury under threat of losing the athletic scholarship. The college may have been successful in taking the athlete's scholarship away, but the NCPA got involved at the athletes' request. Only with pressure from the NCPA and hours of meetings with the college did the college relent, grant a medical retire, and commit to paying for the athlete's continued scholarship.

I am not claiming that violations of this Autonomy policy are widespread but it is important to understand that Autonomy colleges can break this policy without reasonable fear of repercussions. One reason is because most college athletes are not informed and empowered enough to deal with a college that chooses to break this rule. Another reason is because conferences have never truly operated as rule enforcers. For example, a University of Illinois athlete sued her school claiming the college mishandled her concussion after a Big Ten Conference rule claiming the conference would begin enforcing concussion protocols. The Big Ten never reported any investigation, findings, or punishments related to the athlete's claim.

College athletes deserve better. A college athlete should never lose an athletic scholarship after sustaining a college sports injury whether or not they belong to an Autonomy college. This protection should be iron clad, known by athletes, and enforced.

4. In your testimony you stated that in the last 16 years the number of women athletes has only increased by two. NCAA statistics show that from the 2004-2005 academic year to 2020, the average number of female athletes per institution in Division I has increased 15 percent, from 216 to 251 per school, while the average number of male athletes has only increased 5 percent, from 269 to 283. Please provide substantiation for your assertion.

Response: In my testimony, I stated that the total number of athletes (counting both men and female athletes) increased by two. The US Department of Education data shows that between 2003-2019, the total unduplicated count of Division I FBS college athletes increased by only two athletes – from 64,456 to 64,458 athletes. I have attached a pdf copy of this US DOE report.

Mission Statement

To attract and develop student-athletes who will perform successfully in the classroom and compete at the championship level in every sport while in compliance with the letter and spirit of all NCAA and Pac-12 rules. To operate under an administrative structure managed in an open and fiscally sound manner, supporting equitable opportunity for all students and staff, and committed to the highest standards of ethical conduct. Decision-making of the Athletics Department will follow four basic principles: promoting the well-being of student participants; attaining and maintaining competitive excellence; administering clearly, openly and responsibly; and supporting the overall goals of the USC community.

Specifically, the goals for USC Athletics are: to graduate every student-athlete who completes athletic eligibility at USC; to compete successfully in every sport, striving to be in the top 10 nationally, with the ultimate goal of winning national championships; to provide an environment conducive to positive growth and development of student-athletes and Athletics Department staff; to encourage a real, complete and robust college experience, not just an athletic experience; to provide adequate financial support within the department to ensure continuing development of each sport program without university subsidization; and to do all the above while complying fully with all NCAA and Pac-12 regulations.

ATHLETICS

Athletic Department Policies

Hazing

University Policy against Hazing

The University of Southern California expects that all members of the university community will observe and fully comply with the State of California Education Code requirements on hazing. In addition, all students are expected to adhere to related regulations set forth by their respective international, regional or local organizations and university policies concerning practices commonly referred to as hazing. It is the responsibility of the officers of organizations to be informed of all the above-mentioned regulations and to see that they are brought to the attention of the rest of the membership.

USC Athletic Department Hazing Protocol

The athletics department procedures for hazing occurrences will be the following:

Ascertain all facts, sports, and specific student-athlete involvement in the hazing incident. Student-athletes will be required to meet with his/her sport administrator to provide details regarding the hazing incident. The student's sport administrator will draft a report explicating the information provided by the parties involved in the incident. Subsequently, the respective head coach will be notified and provided pertinent details regarding the hazing case. The USC Student Judicial Affairs and Community Standards Office (SJACS) will also be contacted regarding the suspected hazing violation.

A meeting with the sport administrator, the head coach, and the involved student-athletes' will be conducted to discuss appropriate consequences and punishments for the suspected hazing violation (i.e. suspension from practice, competition, and organized team activities). Pending the severity of the violation, Pat Haden (Director of Athletics) may be actively involved in the punitive process.

After serving the determined penalty for the hazing infraction, a follow-up meeting with the sport administrator will be conducted with the student-athletes'/team involved in the hazing violation. In this meeting, the sport administrator will review the USC Anti-Hazing Policy, as well as provide clear examples of acceptable initiation activities. A representative from (SJACS) will also be in attendance.

State of California Education Code 32051

No student, or any other person in attendance at any public, private, parochial, or military school, community college, college, or other educational institution, shall conspire to engage in hazing, participate in hazing, or commit any act that causes or is likely to cause bodily danger, physical harm, or personal degradation or disgrace resulting in physical or mental harm to any fellow student or person attending the institution.

Procedures for Dealing with a Hazing Incident

Anyone with information about a hazing incident which violates university policy has a responsibility to report it to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs and Community Standards, the Greek Life staff, Campus Activities or the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. Sexual Harassment

University Policy on Sexual Harassment

The University of Southern California is committed to maintaining an environment that is conducive to learning and scholarship and free from sexual harassment. To this end, a formal written policy has been developed that specifies certain behaviors by employees of the university, acting under the aegis of the university, which fall within the definition of sexual harassment and which are therefore subject to sanction. In addition, even though students are not covered by the public laws on this subject, behavior by students that falls within the definition of sexual harassment is also subject to sanction by the university. In addition, the university president has issued statements on sexual harassment and on tolerance, and USC has policies: (1) prohibiting sexual harassment by students, (2) committing the university to equal opportunity and nondiscrimination, (3) providing for resolution of grievances, and (4) manifesting the university's commitment to academic freedom, academic tenure and full academic due process.

Definition of Sexual Harassment

Conduct is sexual harassment if it is an unwelcome sexual advance; request for sexual favors; or any other verbal, physical or visual behavior of a sexual nature.

Complaint Procedures

Copies of the detailed procedures followed by the university in the event of a complaint being made against a faculty or staff member, or against a student, may be obtained from the Office of Equity and Diversity, Figueroa Building 202, (213) 740-5086; or from the Center for Women and Men, Student Union 202, (213) 740-4900.

Student Conduct

University Policy on Student Conduct

Sanctions for violations of the University of Student Conduct Code are assessed appropriately for the cited violation. Sanctions will be considered in light of students' entire conduct records at the university and will be designed to hold students accountable for their actions and the resulting or potential consequences of such actions, to promote the educational well being of students and to protect the educational environment of the university and the safety of its community.

Sportsmanship

NCAA

USC adheres to the principles of sportsmanship as defined by both the NCAA and Pac-12 conference. In 1997, the NCAA's member schools and conferences established a Committee on Sportsmanship and Ethical Conduct, representing educational institutions from all three Divisions. The committee's mission is to improve the condition of sportsmanship and ethical conduct in all aspects of intercollegiate athletics by developing and implementing strategies that foster greater acceptance of the value of respect, fairness, civility, honesty and responsibility.

Pac-12 Conference

The Constitution of the Pacific-12 Conference cites as a purpose of the Conference that its members shall participate in its athletics program on the basis of mutual trust and confidence and based upon high standards, scholarship, and sportsmanship. It adds that the members value quality competitive opportunities for student athletes, compliance with the rules of fair play, and sportsmanship. Understanding that realization of those goals requires that opponents respect each other and admire earnest effort made fairly in pursuit of victory, the Conference shall require adherence to the standards it has adopted or which are set forth in the respective playing rules. It will require ethical conduct worthy of the educational stature and the standards of its member institutions. While victory shall be the expected goal of every competitor, defeat is not a disgrace, and the prospect of defeat is never an excuse for unethical behavior or a lack of sportsmanship. Adherence to these principles will maximize the benefits and enjoyment of intercollegiate competition for all—participants, coaches, and spectators.

Academic Integrity

University Policy on Academic Integrity

General principles of academic honesty include and incorporate the concept of respect for the intellectual property of others, the expectation that individual work will be submitted unless otherwise allowed by an instructor, and the obligations both to protect one's own academic work from misuse by others as well as to avoid using another's work as one's own. All students are expected to understand and abide by these principles.

Student Grievances

University Policy on Student Grievances

The University of Southern California is committed to treating all students equitably and fairly. Consequently, in its interactions with students, the university does not differentiate between students on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, medical condition or veteran status. Likewise, in creating and maintaining a learning environment that promotes academic excellence, one element of maintaining such an environment is ensuring that students are free from the effects of misconduct by other members of the university community, including faculty members.

Definition

A grievance arises when a student believes, based on established administrative policies and procedures, that he or she has been treated in an arbitrary, capricious or discriminatory manner by a university department or a representative of the university.

Formal Grievance Resolution

Should a situation arise in which a student is unable to resolve his or her grievance informally, the university's formal grievance process may be employed. This process, outlined in SCampus, should also be initiated within 30 days of the failed informal resolution if applicable. For more information visit:

Mission Statement

The USC Student-Athlete Academic Services (SAAS) Program is committed to providing the necessary support to assist all student-athletes in reaching their full potential academically, personally, and professionally. The SAAS Program is fully integrated with the University. Our program includes academic advising, personal and career development, tutorial programs, and learning specialists, which are all aimed at promoting a philosophy of individual responsibility so as to encourage each student-athlete to value their educational experience. In providing such services, student-athletes will be afforded the opportunity to develop the skills needed to persist towards graduation, become leaders within the community, and lead successful and productive lives.

Commitment to Academic Excellence

Degree Progress & Graduation Monitoring

SAAS Academic Counselors are responsible for monitoring the academic progress of each student-athlete to promote effective communication between the student, academic counselor, coaches, and faculty members. All information gathered encourages the student-athletes to take ownership of their academic program and make appropriate decisions regarding their future. Academic progress updates are also provided to the coaches on a regular basis to ensure that the coaching staff is fully aware of how their students are progressing in their courses and how their progress may affect their eligibility status.

Priority Scheduling

All student-athletes are given priority scheduling to allow them the opportunity to register for courses they need at the times requested and enable them to stay on a steady graduation plan. Students must be proactive about receiving advisement and clearing holds prior to the priority registration date.

Academic Progress Reports

Throughout the semester, faculty submit midterm grade reports with detailed information on academic performance including current grade, attitude, and attendance. In addition, emails are sent to instructors seeking academic progress information on student-athletes as needed.

Tutorial Services

All student-athletes have access to free tutorial services provided by qualified undergraduate and graduate students in a variety of subject areas, subject to tutor availability. Tutoring is offered either on a one-to-one basis or in a group setting and all sessions take place inside the Stevens Academic Center. Upon the completion of each tutorial session, the tutor fills out a feedback form that evaluates the student's comprehension of the course material, provides suggestions for learning strategies, and outlines new grade information. Although tutoring services are free, student-athletes will be charged $10 for each unexcused miss of a tutorial session. Debt may not exceed $30 or access to tutorial services will be subject to suspension.

Learning Specialists/Assistants

These individuals work one-on-one with student-athletes to expand their academic skills and further develop essential college learning modalities. Some areas of focus include time management, reading, writing, note taking, test taking, and critical thinking strategies. In addition, special attention is paid to transitioning freshmen and student-athletes with Education-Impacting Disabilities.

Travel Excuse Letters

One week prior to each competition, academic counselors are responsible for providing each competing student-athlete with a competition excuse letter for the classes they will be missing while on the road. The purpose of the excuse letter is to make the instructor aware of any absences that may occur due to university-sponsored athletic events.

The letter will include the following information provided by Compliance:

- 1) competitor(s),
- 2) competition site,
- 3) competition date(s),
- 4) excuse dates, and
- 5) a list of those student-athletes who will be traveling for the specific competition.

It is the responsibility of the student-athlete to provide each instructor with the letter at least one week prior to the competition and arranging to make-up any missed assignments or exams.

Commitment to Personal Development

New Student-Athlete & Parent Orientation

All freshman & transfer student-athletes are invited and mandated to attend an in-person orientation program during Welcome Week. This program introduces student-athletes and parents to athletic department and university resources and educates them on health and wellness topics relevant to the student-athlete experience.

PHED 165a

During a student-athlete's first year at USC, he/she is required to take PHED 165, a semester long course designed to address the current issues affecting the personal development of the student-athlete. Discussion topics include study skills and strategies, test taking and library research, health and wellness, interpersonal communication, financial management, media relations, selecting a major, career development and campus resources. This one unit course is facilitated by SAAS Staff with guest speakers from SAAS, former student-athletes, and various student service departments across campus.

P.O.W.E.R. Programs

Each semester student-athletes attend various presentations featuring a well-known keynote speaker, who will address personal development issues, such as alcohol and drug abuse, sexual responsibility, diversity, leadership, life after sports, financial literacy and more.

USC Career Center

The Career Center is the one-stop resource for career services on the USC campus. Whether students need assistance with selecting a major, looking for an internship, resume development, mock interviews, or pursuing a professional position, the Career Center is an excellent resource. Each semester, the Career Center hosts a variety of career fairs for students in all majors and disciplines. The Career Center also maintains the "Trojan Network", an alumni database connecting students with alumni to gain information about career fields, companies, and organizational cultures, and "ConnectSC", a job database containing listings for full-time, part-time as well as internship, summer, and work study positions.

Career Month

Each year a month long series of events is planned to assist student-athletes prepare and apply for internships and full time employment opportunities. Included in the month are graduate school workshops, career readiness workshops, resume critiques, a career fair, alumni panels, and more.

Student Recognition & Awards

Student-Athlete of the Month

Each month during the regular academic year, the SAAS staff is responsible for selecting six student-athletes (3 male and 3 female) who are believed to exemplify high academic standards. This can be either through outstanding performance in the classroom or dedication to study hall or tutorial sessions.

USC Senior Recognition

Each spring, the USC Student Recognition Award Committee organizes the Senior and Graduate Award Recognition Ceremony to honor student leaders who have demonstrated a noteworthy level of commitment to leadership, involvement, service, and scholarship at USC.

Marks Scholars

Each May, the Daniel X. Marks Foundation, in conjunction with the USC Athletics Department, hosts the Marks Luncheon. The purpose of this luncheon is to honor those student-athletes who have excelled in the classroom. Specifically, scholarship students (non-scholarship/walk-ons do not qualify) are invited to the luncheon if they have at least a 3.0 cum GPA (or are in the top 10% of their team and have a 2.75 cum GPA or better).

Athletic Department Senior Graduation Reception

At the conclusion of every school year, the athletic department recognizes the academic pursuits of its graduating seniors by hosting a graduation ceremony and reception during commencement week. Students and their families are encouraged to attend and celebrate their achievements with the athletic department. During this reception, three annual awards will be given out to the year's most outstanding seniors.

These awards include:

Trojaneer Diamond Award recognizes the student-athlete who brought the most fame and distinction to the university.

Gimbel Award recognizes the student-athlete who was deemed 'most cooperative'.

Willis O'Hunter Award is awarded to the senior who has the highest cumulative grade point average.

Stevens Scholars

Each May, graduating student-athletes who have achieved a 3.5 cumulative GPA or higher are awarded with a Stevens Scholar medallion during our Student-Athlete Graduation Celebration.

Varsity Award

What is the Trojan Athletic Senate?

The USC Trojan Athletic Senate (TAS) is a committee made up of student-athletes assembled to provide insight on the student-athlete experience. Members of the TAS have the opportunity to address issues affecting student-athletes at USC and have the opportunity to offer input on issues, at the campus, conference, and national level.

Purpose of TAS at USC

The USC Trojan Athletic Senate (TAS) was formed for the purpose of:

- Serving as a line of communication between the student-athletes and the USC Athletic Department.
- Providing the student-athlete population with an opportunity to more effectively communicate with USC athletic administrators and offer suggestions on programs designed to serve student-athlete needs.
- Staying abreast of and acting on issues facing student-athletes, Athletics Department policy, University rules and regulations, and NCAA rules to protect the interest of all student-athletes.
- Designing programs that will encourage academic achievement, social responsibility, health promotion, and general awareness.
- Encouraging student-athletes to become more involved in campus and community projects.
- Build a sense of community and cohesion within the athletics program involving all athletics teams.
- Promote a positive student-athlete image on campus and in the community.

Who can participate in TAS?

TAS is comprised of two senators from each athletic team. In order to be eligible to serve as a senator, you must be listed as a current member on the official team roster and be in good academic standing (2.0 cumulative GPA or higher). Each team will be responsible for choosing its representatives and all representative appointments to TAS are for one year beginning in the Fall semester.

Annual Events

Welcome Back BBQ - As a means of promoting better communication and cohesion between teams, this event is held during the first week of Fall semester for all student-athletes and athletics department staff. At the event, student-athletes have an opportunity to catch up with friends, meet new student-athletes, participate in fun and interactive games and enjoy a BBQ dinner.

Trojan Scholars - Academic Excellence Celebration - TAS hosts a social to honor all those student-athletes who have consistently excelled in the classroom and gives an academic gift to all student-athletes who've achieved a 3.0 semester or cumulative GPA, or who have been honored as a Student-Athlete of the Month.

Pac-12 Student-Athlete Advisory Committee - Each semester, TAS representatives have the opportunity to participate in the Pac-12 Student-Athlete Advisory Committee Meetings, which is a forum designed to address issues affecting student-athletes at the institutional, conference, and national levels. In addition to the in-person meetings, members of the Pac-12 SAAC participate in monthly conference calls to keep their institutions abreast on the conference and national office news.

Community Service Programs and Events - By participating in community service projects, student-athletes can enhance their leadership and communication skills, while serving as role models and building positive relationships with community members. During the 2010-11 academic year, the athletic department exceeded their community Service goal of 3,000 hours.

Faculty Appreciation Dinner – TAS & SAAS have arranged an annual Faculty Appreciation Dinner. This event offers USC student-athletes a chance to network with faculty while giving the professors a taste of what it's like to be a student-athlete at USC.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to provide comprehensive, multidisciplinary, student-athlete centered care for the University of Southern California. Our objective is to deliver the best possible health care, both physiological and psychological, through prevention, education, evaluation, management, and rehabilitation. We utilize evidence-based practices to ensure student-athletes can perform safely and at their highest possible level.

Insurance Coverage

All USC Students must show proof of health insurance coverage at the beginning of the academic year. Students who are enrolled in a private health insurance plan may waive enrollment in the USC Student Insurance program by completing the waiver form and providing proof of insurance to the Student Health Insurance Office. A student who does not have health insurance or does not waive out of the USC Student Health Insurance Plan, will be automatically enrolled in that plan. All student athletes must provide their insurance information to the Department of Athletic Medicine prior to participation. This process is the responsibility of the student athletes.

The USC Athletic Department will cover medical costs for injuries or illnesses in which the athletic medicine staff coordinates the necessary services, as determined by USC Team Physicians. The student athlete's primary insurance policy will be billed first and all subsequent costs that are not covered by the primary insurance will be paid by the USC Athletic Department. Referrals to outside health care providers without prior approval from the USC athletic medicine staff may not be financially covered. Student athletes should not discontinue their insurance coverage assuming that the USC Department of Athletics will assume financial responsibility for all medical costs. The USC Athletic Department is only responsible for medical costs associated with athletic related injuries or illnesses. The USC Athletic Department is not financially responsible for non-athletic related injuries or illnesses.

It is important to note that if you have outside health insurance and do not want the USC Student Health Insurance you must fill out the online waiver form. If you do not waive the university health insurance each year you will be charged for it. Your athletic scholarship WILL NOT cover this.

Physical Examination

All student-athletes at USC must have a pre-participation physical examination to determine their current state of health. No student-athlete can practice or compete without medical clearance from the USC Department of Athletic Medicine. Physicals are scheduled prior to or during the fall semester each year. Athletes who attempt to walk on must be invited by the head coach and obtain a physical examination on their own and present documentation prior to tryouts. Once they have made the team, they must obtain another physical examination from the Department of Athletic Medicine.

Reporting Injuries and Illnesses

All athletic related injuries and illnesses are to be directed to a department of athletic medicine staff member. When special medical services are required, the athletic medicine staff member will coordinate the scheduling of all appointment(s) with the appropriate team physician and/or consultants. Consultants are appointed according to their expertise and selected by the Department of Athletic Medicine.

Nutritional Supplements

Due to the lack of federal regulation, nutritional supplements are potentially dangerous. With there being no guarantee that what is on the label is acutely in the product the student-athlete may be subject to a positive drug test, which could cause them to lose eligibility. For that reason, the USC department of athletics does not endorse the use of nutritional supplements other than Powerade and Collegiate Muscle Milk.

If a student-athlete has a question of whether or not a particular supplement is safe, they can ask a member of the athletic medical staff or access the Resource Exchange Center (REC) for more information free of charge at www.drugfreesport.com/rec/ (password: NCAA1). In addition, all USC student-athletes will have access to the Aegis Shield database for supplement research via the web or mobile phone app. Login and password is available from each individual sports athletic trainer.

Ultimately, the student athlete is responsible for what they put into their body. Ignorance is not an excuse.

NCAA Banned Drugs

The NCAA conducts random drug tests to ensure safety and fairness of competition. If there is a concern of whether a medication could be banned, the student athlete should consult a member of the athletic medicine staff immediately. A positive drug test could result in loss of eligibility for one calendar year. A list of NCAA banned substances can be found on their website:<http://www.ncaa.org/wps/wcm/connect/public/NCAA/Student-Athlete+Experience/NCAA+banned+drugs+list>

Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) is treated with stimulant medication that may be banned. As with all medications, it should be documented in the student athlete's medical chart. Additionally, the student athlete who is taking ADHD Medication is responsible for signing the Athletic Departments Stimulant Medication Policy and following the checklist provided. In the event of an NCAA positive drug test for that medication, a medical exception petition may be generated if the student athlete followed the departmental ADHD Policy. Having prescription medication, taking prescription medication without a prescription, or sharing prescription medication is illegal and dangerous.

CONCUSSION EDUCATION—HANDOUT FOR USC STUDENT-ATHLETES

Concussions are traumatic brain injuries that range from mild (mTBI) to severe. You can have a concussion without being knocked out and even a hit or jolt that does not seem severe can cause brain injury. Concussions can happen during drills, practice, or games, and ones that occur during practice can be just as serious as those that happen during games. The USC Medical staff treats seriously all concussions, and all signs and symptoms of concussions.

Concussions come with many possible signs and symptoms; it is very important that you recognize these signs and symptoms and report these immediately. Symptoms may be subtle and can last for days, weeks, or even longer. The following are common symptoms caused by head injuries; while someone with a head injury would not have all or even most of these symptoms, any of these symptoms could indicate a head injury, and must be reported to the USC Medical staff:

Common Signs and Symptoms of Concussion

Loss of consciousness (LOC) Confusion

Disorientation

Delayed verbal and motor responses

Inability to focus Vacant stare Slurred/incoherent speech Headache

Nausea

Vomiting

Balance Problems/Dizziness

Fatigue

Trouble Falling Asleep Sleeping More Than Usual Drowsiness

Sensitivity to Light and Noise

Sadness Nervousness Numbness/Tingling Feeling Slowed Down Feeling Like in a “Fog” Difficulty Concentrating

Difficulty Remembering Stiff neck

Difficulty walking, speaking, or using your arms

Convulsions

Unusual or erratic behavior

NCAA and USC rules require student athletes to report any of these signs and symptoms to their medical staff immediately. It is extremely important that student athletes be truthful about their symptoms and follow the treatment instructions of USC medical staff. Do not try to diagnose or treat your symptoms yourself and do not continue athletic activity until authorized to do so by a team physician or their designee. If you notice these signs or symptoms in other student athletes, tell the USC medical staff immediately.

Although you cannot completely eliminate the risk of concussion, you play an important role in reducing the risk of concussion by using proper equipment, including personal protective equipment, at all times, by playing within the rules of your game, by choosing a style of play that reduces the risk of impacts to your head, and by immediately reporting signs and symptoms of concussion to USC Medical staff and following their treatment instructions.

Even with all of these protective mechanisms in place, the risks of head injuries cannot be eliminated. These risks can be short-term, such as bleeding in the brain and paralysis, and long-term, such as Alzheimer’s disease, Parkinson’s disease, other brain disorders that become more prevalent with age, and death.

Concussions can also cause brain changes affecting physical abilities (such as extremity function and headaches), thinking abilities (such as memory and reasoning), sensation abilities (such as touch, taste, and smell), language skills (such as communications, expression, and understanding), and emotional traits (such as depression, anxiety, personality changes, aggression, and social inappropriateness). Ongoing research is investigating repeated brain injuries and the risks of depression, CTE, memory problems and early dementia.

If you have any questions or concerns at any time, contact your staff athletic trainer or team physician. As a reminder, you need to be informed about the signs and symptoms of concussions, and you are required by the NCAA and USC to report these immediately and follow the guidelines that the medical staff explains to you.

The undersigned USC student-athlete acknowledges that he/she has received and reviewed a copy of this Concussion Education Handout for USC Student-Athletes.

USC Sport Psychology Mission Statement

The University of Southern California is committed to providing student-athletes overall support for their wellbeing. For the past 20 years USC's Sport Psychology department has provided programming, individual therapy, and educational training to help student-athletes become a "whole healthy person." It is our philosophy that the healthier you are as a whole person the better you will perform.

Services

Individual, Couples, and Group counseling are offered to all student-athletes who are enrolled in classes. Sport Psych also works with teams and provides consultation to coaches and administration. Groups offered include the following: Injured Athlete group, Relationship Group, Social Confidence Group, Mindful Well-Being, Living with Loss, New Choices (Substance Use). During the summer, if a student athlete is not enrolled in summer school, they must pay a one-time student health fee for counseling services.

*Student-athletes are offered unlimited number of weekly sessions during their time at USC.

*Student-athletes do not have a waiting list to get in to see a counselor, can often make same day appointments, or can be seen within the same week (as long as they identify that they are a student-athlete when calling to schedule an appointment).

USC Counseling & Sport Psychology offers confidential services to student-athletes on campus. Consistent with state law, counselors will not speak with anyone, including your coach or parents (if you are 18 & older), for any reason without your written consent.

There are three exceptions to confidentiality: 1) if you are suicidal, 2) if you are homicidal, or 3) if you report child/elder abuse. Even in these instances, we are respectful of your privacy and inform only those who need to know to help keep you and/or others safe.

Nutrition is a vital piece for optimizing a student athlete's performance. Proper fueling before and during competition can give you that competitive advantage needed to succeed. Learning how to fuel your body correctly before and after workouts and throughout the day will enhance your body's ability to recover from training and maximize your physical development.

A student-athlete's schedule can be very busy between practices, classes, and schoolwork so it can be challenging to figure out when and what to eat. Having a plan is crucial, which is why making an appointment with the sports dietitian is important.

Performance Nutrition Program:

- Your team dietitian will work with you to give you a structured individualized meal plan based on your sport and your goals. Your plan includes portion sizes, macronutrient amounts and suggestions for fueling throughout the day using the resources provided.
- Body Composition and Bone Density analysis. Each team will assess body composition via IDEXA or by an Ultrasound machine to determine how their cells are adapting to training and how efficient they are at using the energy they are taking in.
- Provides a grocery list as well as easy inexpensive recipe ideas.
- Can schedule a grocery shopping tour with you and help educate you with what the best products are to buy and which ones to avoid.
- Can help you with ideas on how to stay healthy when traveling and during holiday breaks
- Presents to teams on a variety of topics and can even schedule a night of cooking with your team as a team building exercise and can help you learn how to cook healthy and tasty food

The NCAA allows us to provide two fueling opportunities throughout the day. These fueling opportunities are intended to increase the athletes' ability to recover throughout the day. If you aren't training, you're recovering, therefore it is crucial that the resources provided are utilized in a purposeful manner. Our goal is to provide you with everything that you need for recovery.

This does not mean that you have unlimited access to food. Receiving food is contingent on receiving nutrition education. The department of athletics will provide you with necessities for recovery, but it is not an all you can eat buffet.

ALWAYS have fuel and a water bottle with you to avoid getting dehydrated and going long hours without eating, which will absolutely affect your performance and energy level

You have to ask yourself “are you willing to do whatever it takes to be the best” and if you are, you have to take what you are putting into your body seriously! There is a lot of research that shows what you put into your body will give you an advantage over the rest. You are here at USC because you are a gifted athlete, now you have to motivate yourself to train hard and ensure you are getting the proper fuel to maximize your performance.

Fuel On!

All current student athletes, scholarship and non-scholarship will have an opportunity to participate in an enhanced fueling program. Morning fueling will occur in the Galen Dining Center and the Galen Arena from 7am – 11am Monday through Friday.

Outside of the morning fueling, athletes can use the fueling station in McKay for pretraining and recovery nutrition during the hours the weight room is open.

The Galen Cafeteria will continue to operate as a retail operation during the lunch period. Hours of operation will be 11:30am – 1:30pm open to the public.

To manage space and operational challenges in our facilities sports will be assigned a location for their student athlete’s participation in the enhanced fueling program. Some sports will be serviced out of the Little Galen Cafeteria, others will be serviced from the newly created athletic dining station at the Galen Arena. The new athletic dining station is located in the kitchen space of the previous media workroom. The team assignments are as follows:

Little Galen Cafeteria: M. Water Polo, W. Water Polo, M. Swim & Dive, W. Swim & Dive, M. Track & Field, W. Track & Field, Cross Country, M. Tennis, W. Tennis, W. Soccer, W. Lacrosse, M. Golf, W. Golf, Baseball, Football, W. Rowing.

Galen Arena Athletic Dining Station: M. Basketball, W. Basketball, M. Volleyball, W. Volleyball, Sand Volleyball.

Athletes may choose to take items to go OR to dine in, but cannot do both. Sports nutrition staff is present ensure that athletes are making the choices necessary to attain their fueling goals.

Student athletes will be required to dine in their assigned location and may only check in one time during each enhanced snack period.

Student Athletes are responsible for cleaning up after themselves and for treating the staff and resources with respect.

“Fans judge you as a player according to how you perform on the playing field. They judge you as a person according to how you perform with the media. If fans develop a good impression of you through the media, especially when things are not going well on the field, the benefits to you can be significant.”--NFL Media Relations Handbook

Trojan athletes benefit from tremendous national and local media exposure. And USC has had an outstanding reputation of positive media rapport over the years. Therefore, it is important to understand the media, the value of positive media relations and how best to deal with the media.

The primary way for USC’s fans to find out about you and for you to communicate to USC’s fans is through the media. The stories of USC’s teams, athletes and coaches are told to the fans on a daily basis throughout the year by thousands of newspapers, magazines, Internet sites, radio stations, and television stations.

As a USC athlete, one of your responsibilities is to cooperate with the media--just as giving 100% on the playing field and in the classroom are your responsibilities. It’s all part of the package of being a Trojan student-athlete.

Athletes at USC have many more opportunities than those at other schools to do media interviews because USC is a nationally-prominent university with an unparalleled athletic heritage situated in one of the world’s major media markets.

The media’s role is not to be a cheerleader for you. However, you’ll find that the more cooperative you are with the media, the better chance you will have of the media presenting positive stories about you. You should view your obligation to cooperate with the media as an opportunity to promote yourself as well as your team and sport.

Media attention also means that your conduct both on and off the field will be under intense scrutiny because of your position as a Trojan athlete. The last thing you want is to receive publicity for an unfortunate off-the-field incident.

The Media

Los Angeles is one of the largest and most complex media markets in the world. The Southern California area is home to dozens of daily newspapers, seven commercial television stations, numerous cable networks, scores of radio stations, and the AP wire service. Here's a more in-depth look at the types of sports journalists--representing both national and local media--with whom you'll come into contact:

Beat Writers: These newspaper and Internet writers cover USC on a daily basis, so they are a key link between USC and our fans. Primarily, they report the facts in an objective way. While beat writers may become the most familiar members of the media to you because of the amount of time they spend with us, they still must remain independent and impartial.

Television News Crews: Although you likely won't see reporters and camera crews from the local television stations as often as newspaper beat writers, don't overlook their impact. Most people get their news from television.

Television Game Broadcasters: If one of your games will be televised, count on seeing the announcers—a play-by-play announcer and an analyst—earlier in the week. They'll come out to view some of your practices and, along with the TV producer and director might want to meet with you informally the day before the game. They might also want to do a brief taped interview. Obviously, you should not discuss game strategy in detail, or share confidential team information.

Radio Talk Show Hosts: Sports radio talk shows, featuring calls from fans, are very popular. It's possible you'll be asked to be a guest on one of these shows. Most of the interviews are done live over the phone.

Photographers: Photographers for newspapers and magazines, and TV video camera operators, must tell their stories visually. You'll see them ringing the playing field at practice and games. So, while you must be judicious in your comments to the media, remember that your actions can be captured on film and video, too.

Campus Media: USC has various campus media outlets, all staffed by fellow students. These include the Daily Trojan newspaper, KXSC radio, the El Rodeo yearbook and Annenberg TV News. While these journalists are your campus peers, we have always treated them like any media member and have extended them every professional courtesy.

Interviews

The main way you will deal with the media is through interviews. Most interview topics are about your team and you. Interviews should be looked at as part of the educational experience offered at USC, helping you develop communication skills that can assist you not only in the classroom but in future professional and business careers. The more interviews you do, the better you will become at handling them and the more fun they will be.

We encourage you to make yourself available to the media, especially because student-athletes have been tremendous representatives of USC.

We ask the media to direct all interview requests through the sports information office. We will contact you and work around your athletic, academic and social schedules. You'll be asked to come to the sports information office at an agreed-upon time to be interviewed in person or to conduct a phone interview. In addition, following the conclusion of games, coaches and athletes are expected to make themselves available for interviews within a reasonable period of time (generally after a 10-minute "cooling off" period). These post-game interviews occur in various forms: a press conference in front of a group of media, a one-on-one interview with a reporter, or a live interview on radio or TV.

When doing interviews:

- Be smart and think before you speak.
- Respect your opponents, teammates, coaches and university.
- Be positive.
- Be humble.
- Don't make predictions.
- Smile and have fun.
- Look presentable (appearance can say more than words), so take off your hat, spit out your gum, and get rid of gaudy jewelry.
- It's easy to talk to the media after good times, but your true character comes out after tough times and adversity (so be accountable and available).
- You don't have to answer every question or do every interview, but be polite when declining.
- Anticipate tough questions and prepare answers beforehand.
- Have message points you'd like to make.
- Turn a negative question into a positive answer.
- Don't go "off the record" or say "No comment."
- Don't use slang.
- Remember, you can't control the questions, but you CAN control the answers.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE ABOUT SOCIAL MEDIA

Social media is a fun and useful tool...but it can also spread information in a negative way that exposes your personal life to the world. USC supports an individual's expression of First Amendment rights of free speech. We do not place restrictions on the use of social media by our student-athletes. HOWEVER, please remember that you represent USC, the athletic department and your team at all times. Because the Internet can be accessed by anyone, it is recommended that student-athletes do not post information--including photographs and text--and/or join "groups" that do not promote positive behavior. Remember that the general public, coaches, athletic department administrators, media, opponents, NCAA, law enforcement agencies and future employers have access to your social media. Inappropriate language, behavior or postings, as well as postings that violate NCAA rules, could lead to repercussions from the USC athletic department.

It is HIGHLY recommended that you do not post any personal information, including your address or phone number. Put your viewing setting on "Private" so only your friends can see your postings. As a student-athlete, you are highly visible and many people are interested in you...sometimes, it's the "wrong kind" of people who could put your career or even your life in jeopardy. Also, use discretion when posting pictures of yourself, your teammates and friends. Digital cameras and cell phones with picture and video capability allow the public to catch you in private moments and easily share those pictures with the rest of the world. Do not allow yourself to be photographed in a compromising situation. A photo could be "tagged" to you, leaving you with little control over the content or usage of the photograph.

Bottom line: YOU are accountable for your social media presence. Understand that inappropriate postings can follow you for life. Do not post anything that would embarrass USC, your team or your family. If you believe something you posted would upset your parents, then know that it is going to upset the university, too.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT
SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY & GUIDELINES FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES

Playing and competing for the University of Southern California is a privilege. Student-athletes at USC are held in the highest regard and are seen as role models in the community. As leaders you have the responsibility to portray your team, your University and yourselves in a positive manner at all times. Sometimes this means doing things that are an inconvenience to you, but benefit the whole team.

Facebook, Twitter and other social media sites have increased in popularity globally, and are used by the majority of student-athletes here at USC in one form or another.

Student-athletes should be aware that third parties - - including the media, faculty, future employers and NCAA officials - - could easily access your profiles and view all personal information. This includes all pictures, videos, comments and posters. Inappropriate material found by third parties affects the perception of the student-athlete, the athletic department and the University. This can also be detrimental to a student-athlete's future employment options, whether in professional sports or in other industries.

Examples of inappropriate and offensive behaviors concerning participation in online communities may include depictions or presentations of the following:

- Photos, videos, comments or posters showing the personal use of alcohol, drugs and tobacco e.g., no holding cups, cans, shot glasses etc.
- Photos, videos, and comments that are of a sexual nature. This includes links to websites of a pornographic nature and other inappropriate material.
- Pictures, videos, comments or posters that condone drug-related activity. This includes but is not limited to images that portray the personal use of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.
- Content online that is unsportsmanlike, derogatory, demeaning or threatening toward any other individual or entity (examples: derogatory comments regarding another institution; taunting comments aimed at a student-athlete, coach or team at another institution and derogatory comments against race and/or gender). No posts should depict or encourage unacceptable, violent or illegal activities (examples: hazing, sexual harassment/assault, gambling, discrimination, fighting, vandalism, academic dishonesty, underage drinking, illegal drug use).
- Content online that would constitute a violation of Pac-12 or NCAA rules (examples: commenting publicly about a prospective student-athlete, providing information related to sports wagering activities; soliciting impermissible extra benefits).
- Information that is sensitive or personal in nature or is proprietary to the USC Athletic Department or the university, which is not public information (examples: tentative or future team schedules, student-athlete injuries and eligibility status, travel plans/itineraries or information).

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT
SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY & GUIDELINES FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES

If a student-athlete's profile and its contents are found to be inappropriate in accordance with the above behaviors, he/she will be subject to the following penalties:

1. Written warning
2. A meeting with Director of Athletics and Head Coach
3. Penalties as determined by the athletic department, including but not limited to possible suspension from his/her athletic team.

For your own safety, please keep the following recommendations in mind as you participate in social media websites:

- Set your security settings so that only your friends can view your profile.
- You should not post your email, home address, local address, telephone number(s), or other personal information as it could lead to unwanted attention, stalking, identity theft, etc.
- Be aware of who you add as a friend to your site – many people are looking to take advantage of student-athletes or to seek connection with student-athletes.
- Consider how the above behaviors can be reflected in all Facebook applications.

If you are ever in doubt of the appropriateness of your online public material, consider whether it upholds and positively reflects your own values and ethics as well as the USC Athletic Department's and the University's. Remember, always present a positive image and don't do anything to embarrass yourself, the team, your family or the University.

By signing below you affirm that you understand the USC Athletic Department Social Media Policy and Guidelines for Student-Athletes and the requirements that you must adhere to as a USC student-athlete. Also, you affirm that failure to adhere to this policy and guidelines may result in consequences that include suspension from your athletic team, and you may be subject to additional penalties imposed by the NCAA, Pac-12 or USC.

Athletic Scholarships

If you are a student-athlete receiving athletic aid, we recruited you here and awarded you with an athletic scholarship because we believe you can be successful both academically and athletically, that you intend to graduate with a USC degree, and that you will represent the University in a manner that we will all be proud to call you a Trojan for Life. Your scholarship either partially or completely covers the cost of attendance to graduate with a four-year bachelor's degree from USC. We want you to understand your award so that you can make good choices with advice from your academic advisors, coaches, and faculty.

For the student-athlete who a four- or five-year athletic scholarship agreement the Athletic Department will provide funding for up to 128 units of credit. That is the number of units it takes to graduate from USC with a bachelor's degree for most majors and the same level of support USC gives to its top academic students (those who receive full-tuition Trustee Scholarships). The fact that we are committing as much to you as we do to Trustee Scholars is a sign of how much we want to support you in completing your degree. There are a few cases where you may be eligible to receive additional support. For example:

1. If you declare a major that requires more than 128 units by your sophomore year, then we will finance a maximum of the units required to graduate with a bachelor's degree in that program.
2. If you graduate and still have athletic eligibility remaining, the Athletic Department may finance subsequent semesters beyond the 128 units until the time that your athletic eligibility to compete is exhausted. For example, if a student redshirts and then graduates in 4 years with a bachelor's degree and then begins a master's degree in their fifth year of athletic eligibility, we may pay for tuition during the final year of athletic eligibility. Please note, if the master's program requires an additional year to complete beyond the final year of athletic eligibility, the athletic department may not be able to continue to cover the cost of tuition.

Our primary goal is to help you achieve all of your goals at USC, especially your academic goals. Some student-athletes may require additional support from the Athletic Department. We will always try our best to support you; however, our ability to help will depend on two things: first, you must demonstrate that you are serious about your education by making satisfactory academic progress. Second, you must contact us as early as possible (i.e. your freshman or sophomore year) if you think that the major or majors you intend to pursue will require extra support so that we can discuss your options.

We want to help you reach your goal to graduate and to get the most out of your time at USC. As you know, the University encourages students to pursue more than one emphasis, not just a major but two majors or a major and a minor. It is what USC calls the Renaissance Scholar Ideal. In many ways, you're already doing that by combining your athletic goals with your academic goals. If you want to add a second major or a minor, please discuss this with us. We will help you determine if you can do this and stay on track to graduate and whether your scholarship will cover the costs. With careful planning a student can complete their degree with a major and a minor or double major without exceeding the minimum 128 units required to graduate from the institution.

What Your Scholarship Covers

A Full Athletic Scholarship includes ONLY: tuition, standard room and board, required and recommended textbooks, compulsory fees, transportation and miscellaneous expenses.

An Athletic Scholarship does NOT include, for example: health insurance, tuition refund insurance, late fees, finance charges, damage charges, and interim housing charges.

If your athletic grant is reduced or cancelled, the Financial Aid Office will notify you of an opportunity for a hearing to appeal this decision to a University Financial Aid Appeal Committee.

If you have a question about the terms of your athletic grant, please contact your head coach or the Office of Athletic Compliance.

Conditions of Financial Assistance

By signing below, I accept this offer of financial assistance, and I understand that to qualify for this award, I must:

- Fulfill the admission requirements of and be admitted to USC;
- Meet and maintain the eligibility requirements for athletics participation and financial aid established by the NCAA, Pac-12 and USC; and
- Meet NCAA transfer-eligibility requirements that require me to be academically eligible to compete had I remained at my previous institution.

I am aware that the amount of this aid may be reduced, canceled or not renewed if:

- I become ineligible for intercollegiate competition pursuant to any NCAA Bylaw as written now or in the future (e.g., by carrying less than 12 units, failing an NCAA drug test, not meeting minimum NCAA or USC academic standards);
- I violate the USC Athletic Department's Drug Screening Policy (attached). Violations include, but are not limited to, testing positive for any drug prohibited by NCAA legislation, from any USC administered drug screening, NCAA sponsored drug test, National Governing Body drug test and/or a CLIA accredited hospital laboratory, or refusing to participate in the Drug Screening Policy penalty process. The Director of Athletics (or his/her designee) has sole discretion over penalties relating to violations of the Drug Screening Policy;

- I give false information on my application, letter of intent or Financial Aid Agreement or otherwise fraudulently misrepresent myself to USC;
- I voluntarily withdraw from the team for personal reasons or give written notice that I intend to leave my team;
- I sign a professional sports contract, agree to be represented by an agent (verbally or in writing), or impermissibly accept money based on my athletics ability or reputation (unless my eligibility is exhausted);
- I receive other financial aid that causes me to exceed my individual limit as stipulated in Bylaw 15;
- I have three or more unexcused absences from class within any term (fall, spring or summer);
- I have three or more unexcused absences from any mandatory team and athletic department activity (e.g., practices, meals, meetings, film review, competition) within any term (fall, spring or summer);
- I exhaust my eligibility in the sport;
- I provide written notification of transfer, per USC policy;
- I complete all requirements for the declared major of my undergraduate degree, but not before completing four academic years of full-time collegiate enrollment (at any institution);
- I am convicted of any crime (misdemeanor or felony) by a state or federal court of law;
- Any final finding (after all appellate rights have been exhausted) is made by the proper University authority that I violated any USC Student Conduct Code or Policy (<http://scampus.usc.edu/>), including, but not limited to, findings involving academic integrity, sexual harassment, illegal or unauthorized drug or alcohol use or possession, and hazing; or
- I intentionally or knowingly violate (or assist another in violating) any NCAA, Pac-12, Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF), or USC rule or regulation.

The Student-Athlete and the Faculty Athletic Representative shall be notified of the reduction, cancellation or nonrenewal and the Student-Athlete shall have the right to appeal the decision in accordance with NCAA rules and USC policy.

I understand that NCAA bylaws, USC policies, and federal regulations restrict the total amount of financial aid a student-athlete can receive. If I receive financial aid or scholarships from sources other than USC (i.e., other than from USC or persons upon whom I am naturally or legally dependent), I will notify the Financial Aid Office and the Department of Athletics prior to accepting any award. I understand that I may have to decline receipt of outside or institutional awards if it is not permissible under NCAA, PAC-12 or USC rules. My total financial aid may not exceed applicable NCAA limits. I understand that employment income earned by me during the year is a resource and not considered financial aid. However, I will report all employment income to the USC Athletic Compliance Office in order to comply with NCAA amateurism regulations.

To be eligible to represent USC in intercollegiate athletics, and avoid reduction, cancellation or nonrenewal of my scholarship as set forth above, I must be enrolled in a full-time program of study, be in good academic standing and maintain satisfactory progress toward a baccalaureate/graduate or equivalent degree. I may be eligible to compete while enrolled in a program of study less than full-time, provided that I am enrolled in the final term of the baccalaureate/graduate program and USC certifies that I am carrying (for credit) the courses necessary to complete degree requirements.

If any term of this agreement is to any extent illegal, or later becomes illegal or otherwise invalid, or incapable of being enforced, such term shall be excluded to the extent of such invalidity or unenforceability; all other terms hereof shall remain in full force and effect; and, to the extent permitted and possible, the invalid or unenforceable term shall be deemed replaced by a term that is valid and enforceable and that comes closest to expressing the intention of such invalid or unenforceable term.

This agreement represents the final and entire understanding between the parties. Neither party is relying upon any oral statement or representation that is not contained in this agreement. This agreement may only be modified by a subsequent writing signed by all parties.

University Aid/Outside Awards

University Financial Aid

Student-athletes are encouraged to apply for the Federal Pell Grant and other financial assistance by filling out the FAFSA application online (fafsa.gov). The Pell Grant is awarded based on you or your family's financial situation. The Pell Grant award does not count towards any NCAA financial aid limits. The actual amount of your Pell Grant stipend will be determined by the Financial Aid Office.

Remember, if you are awarded athletics related financial aid, the amount of other forms of financial aid that you may receive is limited. The Financial Aid Office is responsible for making the necessary adjustments to assure compliance with NCAA individual financial aid limitations. Receiving excessive aid can result in you being declared ineligible for competition. University based aid is generally awarded at the same approximate amount on an annual basis for four years or 8 semesters, unless there is some significant change in the student's financial situation. University aid after 8 semesters is not guaranteed and must be appealed for on an individual basis with the Financial Aid Office.

Tuition Assistance through USC as the dependent of a University employee, must be approved by the Financial Aid Office as non-countable aid: 1) If the student-athlete is recruited, the parent/guardian must be employed by the University for 5 years or more; 2) If the student-athlete is non-recruited and the parent/guardian is employed for less than 5 years, the Admissions, Financial Aid, and Compliance Departments must sign off on the Non-Counter Certification Form for the student to receive the Tuition Assistance as non-countable aid.

Outside Awards and Scholarship

The type and/or amount of outside scholarships and awards you may receive as a student-athlete is limited by NCAA rules. Outside scholarships and awards are funds given to a student-athlete by sources other than the Athletic Department, the University, Government Grants/Loans or someone you are naturally or legally dependent upon. NCAA rules apply whether you are receiving athletic scholarship or not. Each year, you must notify the Office of Athletic Compliance if during the year you will receive any outside awards.

Stipend Checks

Athletes who receive scholarships of 80% to 100% may receive the value of some portion of their scholarship in a stipend check. Stipend checks are issued when the amount of your scholarship exceeds the charges on your bill from the Bursar's Office. However, you could still owe money to the University due to charges on your bill NOT covered by your scholarship. The amount of the stipend check varies and will depend upon factors such as meal plan, training table or housing. Other examples of charges that are not covered by your scholarship could be unwaived health or tuition refund insurance, parking permits or tickets, missed tutoring appointments and discretionary. If you have any questions about the charges on your bill you can view your bill on MyUSC.

Stipend checks are typically available on the 26th of every month and may be picked up at the Office of Athletic Compliance. Please contact the Compliance Director or Assistant Director for your sport for details on when and where to pick up your check.

Meal Plans

Meal Plans and Residential Dining

The University offers a variety of meal plans that are assigned based on housing location and class standing. Students whose residential location does not require a meal plan, including those not living in USC housing, may choose to participate in any plan on an optional basis. A description of meal plans and dining options, including associated costs, can be found here.

Summer School

Summer School Aid

USC awards athletic scholarship aid for summer school for a select number of student-athletes. Summer school is not guaranteed for any student, and scholarships are granted when the necessary funding is available and are awarded by the Director of Student Athlete Academic Services upon receipt of satisfactory fulfillment of the application requirements.

To Apply:

The student-athlete must submit a completed summer aid application that includes a sufficient explanation of their need to attend summer school. Applications should be submitted to your academic counselor in SAAS. All summer school requests are collected and evaluated by the Director of Athletic Academic Advisors and then submitted to the Director of SAAS for final review and approval. You are required to take and pass all of the units you have signed up for. The Director of SAAS must approve any changes to the units or classes.

Important Points:

If the student fails the class or receives a UW due to poor attendance, the student-athlete will have to reimburse the Department for any stipend money collected during that term. Summer aid covers tuition, books and possibly room and board. However, summer aid covers the same percentage as the student's aid during the previous academic year. Summer aid only covers courses that are taken at the University of Southern California.

Former Athlete Degree Achievement Program (FADAP)

Policy for providing scholarships to former student-athletes who are no longer competing at USC.

Former student-athletes applying for scholarship funding from the athletic department to return to USC should first apply for the NCAA degree completion award, NFL trust fund, or any other professional league's applicable degree completion program to help finance their return to school. After exploring these options, approval for funding from USC is sent to the FADAP committee (Head Coach, Senior Associate Athletic Director overseeing SAAS, and Sport Administrator).

The FADAP Committee will review each former student-athlete on a case by case basis and within the requirements of the Pac 12 Executive Regulations. The FADAP Committee will determine academic and conduct status at the time of departure from USC, academic history, overall citizenship, how many years the student previously received aid, and what % of aid the student received while competing at USC.

Pursuant to Pac 12 Executive Regulation 3-2-a, if the student-athlete withdraws from USC prior to receiving athletically related financial aid for a period of four years, he or she may return to USC after exhausting athletics eligibility or leaving school to become a professional athlete within 10 years* of initial enrollment in any college or university (whether initially enrolled at USC or another 2 or 4 year institution), and receive a proportional amount of educational expenses (i.e., tuition, fees, books) for the period remaining under the financial aid agreement, provided the following criteria are met:

- The student-athlete left USC in good academic and citizenship standing without violating any terms of the original financial aid agreement;

- The student-athlete completed at least 50% of his or her degree program at the time of departure and at least one full academic year at the institution; and
- The student-athlete meets all USC's requirements for readmission (i.e., previous academic achievement, length of absence, etc.).

Student-athletes who return to USC as part-time students after they have exhausted eligibility or left USC to become professional athletes shall receive, at a minimum, educational expenses (i.e., tuition, fees, and books). In addition, student athletes in equivalency sports who received partial scholarships shall receive, at a minimum, educational expenses proportional to the aid he or she received while originally enrolled at USC.

Student Athletes who transfer to another institution are not eligible for aid under the FADAP program.

*Following the 10 year period, students may apply for degree assistance; each application will reviewed on a case-by-case basis.

Conditions of the original financial aid agreement (i.e., class attendance, good academic standing) still apply to the continuation requirements of the degree completion program.

Cost of Attendance

The total cost of attendance (COA) at UCLA includes tuition, fees and expenses for housing, food, educational materials and transportation. Typical Housing Costs information is also compiled by UC Office of the President and can give you an idea of housing costs in areas close to UCLA.

Your COA budget is determined by the housing option selected on your financial aid application and is used to determine the maximum amount of financial aid that can be awarded. Please inform Financial Aid and Scholarships office, if your housing plans for the year change so that your aid can be recalculated.

UCLA can allow certain expenses as the basis for increasing the student's COA budget. To review the list of expenses that can be used to increase your budget, please click on the "Changes that affect your cost of education" tab on the "Appeals" page of our site. Decisions on residence status for tuition purposes are made by the UCLA Campus Residence Deputy. For more information regarding Residence for Tuition Purposes, please visit the Registrar's Office website.

Residence for Tuition Purposes at UCLA

Decisions on residence status for tuition purposes are not made prior to admission to the University. Such decisions are made only after the student has been admitted, and has completed an online Statement of Intent to Register (SIR) and a Statement of Legal Residence (SLR).

Residence determination is made on a case-by-case basis. Neither departments nor individual students should assume that one-year presence in California automatically results in a positive residence determination. At the campus level, the residence deputy is the only person qualified to answer residence questions or to make a determination regarding residence status.

Financial independence for tuition purposes is determined separately and only by the campus residence deputy, and that outcome may differ from financial independence as determined by Financial Aid and Scholarships based on the FAFSA. Undergraduate students whose parents are not California residents are not likely to meet the financial independence requirement.

- UCLA does not award scholarships or financial aid to undergraduate students who are not citizens or permanent residents of the United States. International students must prove that they have sufficient funds available to them to pay for their educational and living expenses. All figures are estimates and are subject to increase. International students can apply for scholarship opportunities and private loans with a valid co-signer.
- The UC Student health Insurance Program (UC SHIP) fees can be waived if a student already has adequate insurance coverage.

Summer Session Fees

UCLA Summer Financial aid is available to eligible UCLA students enrolled in Summer Sessions, including newly admitted students. The summer tuition and fees vary for each summer program and tuition can be based on total units enrolled. Financial aid is available for one summer program per year. Summer programs include the UCLA Summer Sessions, UC Cross Campus, Summer Travel and Summer Institutes programs. You cannot receive aid for more than one programs during the same summer. Non-UCLA students attending another UC institution should consult the Financial Aid Office at their home institution for information regarding the Cross Campus option. UCLA students in a dismissed status are not eligible for financial aid. UCLA does not provide financial aid to students enrolled in non-UCLA programs during the summer.

All fees are subject to change without prior notice. During registration, all summer visiting students including UC students will be assessed a non-refundable deposit, which will apply toward the summer balance. Deposits are not required for UCLA students. However, the non-refundable processing fee of $150 will be assessed if all courses are dropped regardless of whether instruction has begun.

For an estimate of your summer fees for academic courses, use the summer session tuition estimator tool: <https://summer.ucla.edu/fees>

Sum of Estimated Educational Expenses

NCAA rules allow a full grant-in-aid scholarship to cover tuition and fees, room and board, books and other mandatory expenses related to attendance at the institution. For purposes of determining the percentage of an athletic grant, $800 is used for a book scholarship award covering all required textbooks. Full grant-in-aid scholarships will cover all required books through a book loan program through the on-campus bookstore.

The full grant-in-aid scholarship allowed by the NCAA does not include the following line-items listed in the chart above detailing the Estimated Undergraduate Student Budget figures for the 2021-2022 academic year, which includes 9 months from October through June: Transportation ($606-$2,016) and Personal ($1,467-$1,812).

The sum of these expenses not included in the full grant-in-aid scholarship is as follows, depending on where students live: UCLA Residence Halls = $2,073; Off Campus Apartments or University Apartments = $2,760; Commuter or Remote Learner = $3,828. The average cost for each category is calculated using student surveys conducted by the UC Regents Office.

A full athletic scholarship may not exceed the cost of attendance limits. A full athletic scholarship may be reduced in a situation where a student receives other outside scholarships, grants or additional aid. Categories included in the cost of attendance budget such as personal expenses, transportation, non-athletic health insurance (USHIP), loan fees and supplies are not covered by a full Grant-in-Aid scholarship.

UCLA Athletics: Summer School Aid Policy

For students on athletics scholarship and interested in taking summer courses, summer school aid is awarded through an annual application process through the UCLA Summer School Athletics Aid Program. Summer athletics aid is not guaranteed.

The purpose of the UCLA Summer School Athletics Aid Program is to provide student-athletes receiving athletics aid an opportunity to maintain progress towards their degree. The Summer School Committee will heavily consider factors such as academic fit, eligibility concerns, class attendance & level of academic engagement during the academic year, previous summer school academic performance, summer access requirements, year in school (e.g., freshman, senior) and UCLA academic standing when evaluating summer school athletics aid applications. The following guidelines are used to evaluate aid applications:

1. Student-athletes are eligible to receive up to a maximum of 15 segments of athletics aid while they pursue their degree (See page 74 of the Student-Athlete Handbook for more information regarding grant-in-aid limitations). Each summer session counts as one-half of a segment, while each quarter in the academic year (Fall, Winter, Spring) counts as one segment. Transfer student-athletes will be issued a prorated number of segments dependent on the number of full-time terms completed prior to UCLA. Student-Athlete must meet the appropriate University Academic Benchmarks to be considered for Summer School Athletics Aid:

University Academic Benchmarks:

Student-athletes are required to meet the following University Academic Benchmarks by the designated deadline:

- By the end of Year 1: Must complete Writing I requirement
- By the end of Year 2: Must complete Quantitative Reasoning requirement
- By the end of Year 3: Must complete Foreign Language requirement

If a student-athlete has applied for summer athletics aid and has not met their applicable University Academic Benchmark, they will be required to enroll in that course during the summer in order to be eligible to receive summer athletics aid.

2. Per NCAA rules, student-athletes may not receive athletics aid for classes taken at other institutions with the exception of UCLA Extension. However, course fees at UCLA Extension can only be paid via the reimbursement process; therefore, the student-athlete is required to pay the course fees upfront and only when the course is completed and a final grade is posted can the student-athlete request a reimbursement. Reimbursements can take up to 8 weeks to be processed. Student-athletes wishing to be reimbursed for courses taken at UCLA Extension must submit this application and must be pre-approved by the Summer School Committee in order to be eligible for a reimbursement.
3. Student-athletes receiving athletics aid must enroll in a minimum of two courses or 8 units. Exceptions may be allowed for students enrolling in one six-unit course or if approved by the Summer School Committee.
4. Student-athletes enrolling in only online courses or only courses taken at UCLA Extension will NOT be eligible to receive a summer housing stipend.
5. Student managers are NOT eligible to receive summer athletics aid.
6. A summer housing stipend for student-athletes participating in an equivalency scholarship sport and student-athletes who are medically retired and no longer competing is not guaranteed and will be granted on a case-by-case basis by the Summer School Committee.
7. Student-athletes must develop a summer school program with their AS2 Academic Counselor, complete all required paperwork and have their AS2 Academic Counselor sign off on the application. INCOMPLETE AND LATE APPLICATIONS WILL NOT BE CONSIDERED.
8. Athletics aid may not be used to pay for any summer class where the student-athlete did not meet the grade qualifier, received a failing grade or retroactively dropped a class during the academic year because of failure to attend class on a regular basis or failure to complete all required work.

Monthly Scholarship Payment Information

Scholarship funds are applied to educational expenses in the following order: Tuition, fees, USHIP, room and board. After all charges are paid, the remaining funds are refunded to the student via direct deposit or a refund check. There is no average monthly payment figure as different housing statuses and UC SHIP waivers impact the remaining scholarship credit. Students living on-campus may or may not qualify for a refund depending on the athletic scholarship terms and the dorm setup/meal plan they select. Students living off-campus with sufficient scholarship eligibility can receive room and board stipend funding on a monthly or quarterly basis. Other miscellaneous charges posted to a student's registration statement may also impact the refund amount and include orientation fees, late fees, bookstore charges, testing fees, health center services, etc.

Financial Aid Agreements

Pursuant to NCAA rules, a verbal commitment is not binding on either the student athlete or the institution. The National Letter of Intent is a binding agreement between a prospective student-athlete and an institution in which the institution agrees to provide a prospective student-athlete who is admitted to the institution and is eligible for financial aid under NCAA rules athletics aid for one academic year in exchange for the prospective student-athlete's agreement to attend the institution for one academic year. The National Letter of Intent must be accompanied by an institutional financial aid agreement. If the prospective student-athlete signs the National Letter of Intent but does not enroll at that institution for a full academic year, he or she may be subject to specific penalties, including loss of a season of eligibility and a mandatory residence requirement.

Athletic Scholarship Renewal Information

NCAA's Policy on Scholarship Duration

The period of award begins when the student-athlete receives any benefits as a part of the student's grant-in-aid on the first day of classes for a particular academic term, or the first day of practice, whichever is earlier, and continues until the conclusion of the period set forth in the financial aid agreement. The period of award of a multiyear grant-in-aid may include one or more academic years of no athletically related financial aid after the first academic year in which athletically related aid is provided, including the final year of the award (e.g., 50 percent in year one, zero percent in year two, 50 percent in year three; 50 percent in year one, zero percent in year two, zero percent in year three). An athletics grant-in-aid shall not be awarded in excess of the student-athlete's five-year period of eligibility. (Bylaw 15.0.2.7)

Renewal/Nonrenewal of an Athletic Scholarship

All student athletes on an athletic scholarship will be notified of the status of their award (i.e. renewed, increased, reduced, or not renewed) by July 1 prior to the academic year in which the scholarship will take effect. A student-athlete might render themselves ineligible for renewal if they failed to conduct themselves appropriately, rendered themselves academically ineligible, quit the team voluntarily or has stopped attending required practices/meetings/competitions without approval from the head coach. Students will receive a notification detailing the steps on how to setup a hearing to appeal a scholarship non-renewal or reduction for the following academic year.

A temporary sports-related injury will have no bearing on the athletic scholarship unless the student-athlete decides on his or her own to voluntarily quit the team or chooses not to rehabilitate the injury as prescribed by the athletic trainers or a physician. The student-athlete still has a chance to appeal the removal of the athletic scholarship. If a student-athlete suffers a permanent sports-related injury he or she has the opportunity to work in the athletic department as part of the agreement to continue to receive funding. Athletic scholarships will be awarded provided the student-athlete is meeting all NCAA academic eligibility requirements.

Student-athletes will not have their aid reduced for performance reasons at any time, including if there is a coaching change. Aid may only be reduced for reasons having to do with behavioral problems or academic underperformance. Performance is not a criterion for reducing or eliminating aid. It is a standard behavioral expectation for student-athletes to make a good faith commitment to the success of their team and demonstrate a dedication to athletics that is (a) commensurate with a reasonable Division I standard and (b) aligned with the level of dedication demonstrated by their teammates. Failing to meet this expectation of reasonable Division I commitment and dedication is considered to be a behavioral issue, and not a performance issue, and may be justification for the reduction or elimination of aid.

Athletically-Related Medical Expenses

NCAA Policy

An institution, conference or the NCAA may provide medical and related expenses and services to a student-athlete. (Bylaw 16.4)

UCLA Athletics' Policy

Health insurance is mandatory for all UCLA students. A fee for the University of California Student Health Insurance Plan (UC SHIP) will be assessed each academic term as part of registration fees. Students may waive out of UC SHIP by providing proof of adequate insurance that meets the University's minimum requirements. The UCLA Athletic Department has a program that will assist parents if a student-athlete is injured by providing secondary or excess medical coverage for all student-athletes in the event they are injured while participating in athletics at UCLA. The department also provides a similar service for student-athletes if a dental or vision injury results from practice or competition.

The Medical Services Program is a self-contained program that uses a network of excellent UCLA providers and specialists. In the event of an injury while participating in athletics at UCLA, our sports medicine staff evaluates and recommends a treatment plan. When services are pre-authorized, our program covers any expense within the UCLA network that the family's insurance does not cover (e.g., co-payments, and deductibles). Our program is secondary support to the family's insurance, which means that the family's insurance is primary and will be billed in every circumstance. Outside services will be authorized at the discretion of the Director of Sports Medicine, but are covered only if they are unavailable within the UCLA Network. UCLA Athletics will cover only those injuries that are a direct result of intercollegiate athletic participation while a student-athlete at UCLA. This means that injuries not related to participation in athletics (car accidents, serious illnesses such as appendicitis, etc.) are not covered, nor can they be transferred to the UCLA Medical Center without eligible insurance.

If a student-athlete suffers an injury resulting from his or her participation in athletics at UCLA that requires ongoing medical treatment, UCLA shall provide the necessary medical treatment for two years from the separation date. Student-athletes have one year from the date of their separation from Intercollegiate Athletics (for any reason) to report any ongoing problems and take care of any documented injuries that occurred prior to the date of separation. This would include any service that requires payment. To be eligible for this care, it is REQUIRED that the athlete complete and sign the EXIT HEALTH HISTORY QUESTIONNAIRE and comply with all follow up requirements after reviewed by the UCLA Sports Medicine Staff. This policy does not apply to pre-existing medical conditions that predate the student-athlete's participation at UCLA as they are not covered under policy.

Student-athletes are free to choose any medical provider you wish, but to qualify for the Medical Services Program, you must use a network provider or obtain pre-authorization from the Director of Sports Medicine.

Should a student-athlete want to obtain a second opinion regarding an injury or illness covered by UCLA Athletics they must receive approval from the Director of Sports Medicine prior to attending any appointment(s). The Director of Sports Medicine may consult with the treating team physician, or other UCLA Sports Medicine staff, regarding the request. The request may be limited to designated approved providers. Those that do not receive approval prior to attending the appointment for a second opinion or see a provider that has not been approved, shall be responsible for all financial cost(s) incurred.

Athletic Release Information

NCAA Policy

If the student's previous institution denies his or her written request for the release, the institution shall inform the student-athlete in writing that he or she, upon written request, shall be provided a hearing conducted by an institutional entity or committee outside the athletics department (e.g., the office of student affairs; office of the dean of students; or a committee composed of the faculty athletics representative, student-athletes and nonathletics faculty/staff members). The institution shall conduct the hearing and provide written results of the hearing to the student-athlete within 15 business days (see Bylaw 14.02.4) of receipt of the student-athlete's written request for a hearing. The student-athlete shall be provided the opportunity to actively participate (e.g., in person, via telephone) in the hearing. If the institution fails to conduct the hearing or provide the written results to the student-athlete within 15 business days, the release shall be granted by default and the institution shall provide a written release to the student-athlete. (Bylaw 14.5.5.2.10.1)

UCLA will provide a decision on all permission to contact requests within 7 business days of receiving the student-athlete's written request. If you or your parents contact another institution prior to receiving written notice, the other institution is obligated to contact UCLA, and it may impact your ability to compete at that other school. If permission is not granted, the other institution shall not encourage the transfer and that institution shall not provide athletically related financial assistance until the student-athlete has attended that institution for one academic year. Also, if UCLA fails to respond to the student-athlete's written request within 7 business days, permission will be granted by default and UCLA will provide written permission to the student-athlete.

NCAA regulations require a transfer student-athlete to complete one full-time academic year in residence at the new institution prior to participating, unless he or she meets requirements for an NCAA transfer exception. Under Pac-12 rules, you may not use the One-Time Transfer Exception if you transfer to another Pac-12 school, unless the original school grants you permission to waive the penalty. Under NCAA Bylaw 14.5.1.2, if you transfer to another NCAA institution while you are disqualified or suspended from UCLA for disciplinary reasons, you are required to complete one calendar year of residence at the new institution.

TRANSFERRING FROM UCLA

NCAA Bylaw 13.1.1.3 requires a UCLA student-athlete notify the Athletics Department of his/her intention to transfer prior to contact with an athletics staff member or representative of athletics interests from another NCAA or NAIA four-year institution. If you are interested in transferring from UCLA, you must notify the Compliance Office in writing. Notification in writing is defined as submission of the Notification of Transfer form through the Teamworks application. Within 48 hours, your name will be placed in the NCAA Transfer Portal by any of the following designated institutional staff members: Associate Athletic Director, Compliance, Assistant Director, Compliance, or Associate Director, Academic and Student Services.

It is highly recommended that you speak with your coach prior to notifying UCLA of a desire to transfer. The Transfer Portal designee will contact the head coach of the program to inform them of your intent to transfer.

If you decide to officially notify UCLA of your intent to transfer, your status as a student-athlete may be impacted. The Head Coach and Sport Supervisor for your sport will make a decision as to whether the resources and opportunities that are generally made available to UCLA student-athletes will remain available to you. Each case will be evaluated on an individual basis dependent upon the specific circumstances. You will be notified about your status with the team and the privileges that remain available by your coach. This decision may be revisited and changed as you proceed through the transfer process. The review is not limited to, but will include an assessment of the following:

Student-Athlete Resources and Opportunities:

- Participation in Team Activities (e.g., practice, meetings, competition, travel)
- Scholarship Status (renewal, reduction or cancellation)
- Academic & Student Services (e.g., priority enrollment, peer learning, learning center access)
- Facility Access (e.g., Acosta Athletic Complex, Drake Stadium)
- Fueling Station, Team Meals, Team Entertainment
- Athletic Training & Sports Medicine Support
- Athletic Performance Coaching and Workouts
- Complimentary Admissions to UCLA Home Competitions
- UCLA Team-Issued Gear and Equipment

As a result of your notice of transfer UCLA has the option to cancel your athletics aid. If you notify during the academic term aid may be canceled at the conclusion of that term. If you notify between terms aid may be canceled immediately. The decision by the department to cancel your athletics aid will be made according to the following conditions:

- Notification during the fall quarter - decision due to student-athlete by 2 weeks prior to winter quarter classes
- Notification during winter break between fall and winter quarter - decision due to student-athlete prior to first day of winter quarter classes
- Notification during winter quarter - decision due to student-athlete by 2 weeks prior to spring quarter classes
- Notification during spring break between winter and spring quarter - decision due to student-athlete prior to first day of spring quarter classes
- Notification during spring quarter - decision due to student-athlete prior to July 1st
- Notification during summer prior to June 17th - decision due to student-athlete by July 1st
- Notification during summer after June 17th - decision due to student-athlete prior to first day of fall quarter classes

In addition, the resources described below are available to all UCLA students and will continue to be available to student-athletes who officially request permission to contact another institution.

NCAA regulations require a transfer student-athlete to complete one full-time academic year in residence at the new institution prior to participating, unless he or she meets requirements for an NCAA transfer exception. Under Pac-12 rules, you may not use the One-Time Transfer Exception if you transfer to another Pac-12 school, unless the original school grants you permission to waive the penalty. Under NCAA Bylaw 14.5.1.2, if you transfer to another NCAA institution while you are disqualified or suspended from UCLA for disciplinary reasons, you are required to complete one calendar year of residence at the new institution.

NCAA ONE-TIME TRANSFER EXCEPTION

In 2021, the NCAA modernized the four-year transfer eligibility legislation by establishing a uniform and equitable approach for student-athletes across all sports to qualify for a one-time transfer exception. The new changes remove the existing sport-specific limitation and creates a mechanism for student-athletes in all sports to be eligible for competition immediately at another four-year institution, provided certain objective criteria are met.

To further deter the impermissible influence by individuals from or on behalf of other institutions on a student-athlete's desire to transfer, an institution's head coach and the student-athlete will be required to certify that no contact occurred prior to the student-athlete's entry into the NCAA Transfer Portal. To provide stability and finality to those impacted by transfer decisions, the new transfer rule changes include notification of transfer dates by which a student-athlete must indicate intent to transfer in order to qualify for the one-time transfer exception.

Notification of Transfer Dates:

- Fall and Winter Sports - May 1
- Spring Sports - July 1

PAC-12 INTRA-CONFERENCE TRANSFER RULE

Effective May 17, 2021, the Pac 12 eliminated the intra-conference transfer rule. Moving forward transfers within the Pac 12 will default to the NCAA applicable rules.

PAC-12 MISCONDUCT TRANSFER POLICY

Any student-athlete who is ineligible to re-enroll at UCLA for student misconduct reasons and transfers to another Pac-12 institution will be ineligible for athletic aid and participation on an NCAA intercollegiate team or in any team activities at the other Pac-12 institution. The policy applies as long as the student-athlete is ineligible to re-enroll at UCLA, and also applies whether the student-athlete is ineligible at the time of transfer or is later deemed ineligible. The policy applies only to student misconduct issues, including assault, harassment, academic fraud, and other violations of UCLA behavior conduct policies. The policy does not apply to student-athletes who are ineligible to re-enroll based on academic performance reasons unrelated to misconduct. A student-athlete deemed ineligible by the policy may submit an appeal request at the other Pac-12 institution in accordance with that institution's appeal process.

Information related to UCLA Athletics' transfer policies and processes can be found in the Student-Athlete Handbook.
