

An attorney and civic leader with over two decades of experience in the public and private sectors, Julie Menin served residents of New York City in a variety of capacities. Her most recent position in a Mayoral Administration was serving as New York City's Census Director in 2020. Previously, she served as New York City Commissioner of the Department of Consumer Affairs and as Commissioner of Media and Entertainment. Prior to her career in public service, Ms. Menin was a regulatory attorney at Wiley, Rein & Fielding in Washington D.C., where she specialized in consumer protection issues. She also worked as Senior Regulatory Attorney at Colgate-Palmolive in New York City handling regulatory matters with federal authorities.