

Yiota Souras, Chief Legal Officer, National Center for Missing & Exploited Children

Yiota Souras is Chief Legal Officer for the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC). As CLO, Ms. Souras manages the legal operations relating to NCMEC's unique non-profit mission to help find missing children, reduce child sexual exploitation, and prevent child victimization. She also oversees NCMEC's federal and state legislative advocacy and participates in NCMEC's international policy advocacy relating to child protection issues. Ms. Souras collaborates broadly on criminal and civil legal issues and policy matters relating to online child sexual exploitation with technology companies, Congressional staff, prosecutors and defense counsel, and private attorneys representing children who have been victimized. Ms. Souras has testified before Congress and speaks frequently on panels and to the media on issues relating to online child sexual exploitation, online content moderation, the impact of newly emerging technologies, such as generative artificial intelligence on child safety, and encryption/data privacy issues.

Ms. Souras received a B.A. in History from The Johns Hopkins University and a J.D. from the Fordham University School of Law.
