DERRICK MORGAN

Senior Vice President, Federal & Regulatory Affairs, American Fuel & Petrochemical Manufacturers (AFPM)

Derrick Morgan joined AFPM as the Senior Vice President for Federal and Regulatory Affairs in May 2017 after serving as Chief of Staff to Senator Ben Sasse of Nebraska. Before his most recent stint on Capitol Hill, he held several positions at the Heritage Foundation, including Vice President for the Institute of Economic Freedom and Opportunity, where he managed a research division, and as the Chief of Staff to the organization's President and Chief Executive Officer, Ed Feulner.

During the Presidency of George W. Bush, he served on Vice President Dick Cheney's senior staff in several capacities, including Assistant to the Vice President, Special Counsel, and Staff Secretary.

Additionally, he also served as a policy analyst and counsel to the U.S. Republican Policy Committee under Senator John Thune, providing analysis to all Republican senators on energy, environment, labor, and agriculture bills, amendments, and policy.

Morgan earned a bachelor's degree at the University of Texas at Dallas and a law degree from Georgetown University. Morgan practiced law at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, LLP after clerking at the U.S. Department of Justice and for Judge Sidney A. Fitzwater of the Northern District of Texas.

AFPM, the American Fuel & Petrochemical Manufacturers, is a trade association representing high-tech American manufacturers of virtually the entire U.S. supply of gasoline, diesel, jet fuel, other fuels and home heating oil, as well as the petrochemicals used as building blocks for thousands of vital products in daily life. AFPM members make modern life possible and keep America moving and growing as they meet the needs of our nation and local communities, strengthen economic and national security, and support over 3 million American jobs.
