CAROL ISAACS JD

Mrs. Isaacs has served the State of Michigan since 1993 in various capacities within both the legislative and executive branches of government. She has extensive knowledge of State Government organization and operations. Her experience includes policy development, strategic initiative planning, management, project development and leadership.

Over her career she has been privileged to participate in the development of many initiatives for the State of Michigan, such as development of health insurance programs for low income residents, Patient Bill of Rights legislation, opioid policy, school safety programs, Human Trafficking Commission, testing stockpiled sexual assault kits, etc.

Prior to her appointment by Governor Rick Snyder as the Director of the Michigan PFAS Action Response Team (MPART), November 2017, she worked as the Chief Deputy Attorney General from 2003-2017, serving under two different attorneys general. Prior to that she served in the legislative as the Senate Health Care Policy Advisor and legal counsel and in the executive branch as Senior Deputy Director of Legal Affairs and Policy in the Michigan Community Health Department.

Ms. Isaacs is married and has three children.
