

Helena Wooden-Aguilar
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
Deputy Associate Administrator, Office of Policy

Helena Wooden-Aguilar is the Deputy Associate Administrator in the Office of Policy. Prior to her current assignment, Helena served as the Acting Deputy Chief of Staff in the Administrator's Office for two years. Earlier in her EPA career, she held various management positions in the Office of Enforcement and Compliance Assurance, and in the Office of Civil Rights, where she was a supervisor and served as an expert advisor on sensitive issues and in addition led their financial and human resources initiatives. Her professional career began in 2002 at the Pennsylvania Coalition against Domestic Violence in Harrisburg, PA. Helena earned her J.D. degree from Vermont Law School and was also awarded B.A. degrees in sociology and in anthropology with honors, from Howard University in Washington, DC.