

Danny Seiden, President and CEO, Arizona Chamber of Commerce and Industry

Danny Seiden is the President and CEO of the Arizona Chamber of Commerce & Industry, where he leads the state's most influential business advocacy organization. With more than 20 years of experience in law, government, and global public affairs, Danny has built a career at the intersection of business and policy.

Before joining the Chamber, Danny served as General Counsel for Valor Global, guiding the company's growth strategy and public affairs work across multiple states. He also spent several years at Intel and was a shareholder at Greenberg Traurig, where he chaired the Phoenix office's Government Law & Policy practice.

From 2014 to 2018, Danny served as Deputy Chief of Staff to Arizona Governor Doug Ducey, helping shepherd major policy initiatives, including the Arizona Opioid Epidemic Act and a landmark K-12 education funding referral.

In recognition of his leadership, Danny was named a 2023 Leader of the Year in Public Policy by the Arizona Capitol Times. He also serves as an adjunct professor at ASU's Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law and was appointed the 2024 Executive in Residence at the University of Arizona's Eller College of Management. Danny is active on several community boards and teaches regularly on law, policy, and business.

He earned his J.D. (cum laude) from the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University and his B.A. (cum laude) from Pepperdine University. His passion for service extends to his work with Orphan Outreach, where he volunteers with orphaned and vulnerable children Nairobi and Kenya. He and his wife, Ann, live in Phoenix with their three children.
