

CLEO PASKAL

Non-Resident Senior Fellow

Foundation for Defense of Democracies

Cleo Paskal is a non-resident senior fellow at FDD focusing on the Indo-Pacific region. Cleo works with academia, government, the defense community, and others to better understand, explain, anticipate, and resolve today's complex challenges. Her current project focuses on researching National Security Coordination in the Marshall Islands, Federated States of Micronesia and the Republic of Palau (the U.S. Freely Associated States).

Cleo has briefed government departments of the United States, United Kingdom, the European Union, India, and others. She has lectured at, among many others, the US Army War College, Center for Homeland Defense & Security (Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey), Inter-American Defence Board (D.C.), the Royal College of Defence Studies (UK), the National Defence College (India), Centre for National Security Studies (Canadian Forces College), and the National Defence College (Oman).

Cleo is a Senior Fellow at Usanas Foundation (India) and is on the International Advisory Board of the Global Counter Terrorism Council (India) and the Kalinga Institute of Indo-Pacific Studies (India). From 2006 to 2022 she was an Associate Fellow with Chatham House (Royal Institute of International Affairs), where she ran a multiyear research project on perceptions of strategic shifts in the Indo-Pacific from the points of view of the United States, United Kingdom, France, India, the Kingdom of Tonga, Japan, and China.

Cleo is widely published and a regular media commentator. In the popular media, she has contributed to The Diplomat, The World Today, The Telegraph (UK), South China Morning Post, BBC radio, Australian Financial Review, New Zealand Herald, and Times of India, among many others. She is currently North America Special Correspondent for The Sunday Guardian newspaper (India).