

The American Council for Capital Formation (ACCF) endorses Chairman Bruce Westerman's SPEED Act, a bipartisan initiative to modernize NEPA, streamline permitting, and spur economic growth. By cutting bureaucratic delays and enhancing investment certainty, it accelerates critical infrastructure projects while upholding environmental protections and driving job creation, energy dominance, and innovation for a stronger, sustainable America. This forward-thinking legislation balances progress with responsibility and is critical to strengthening U.S. competitiveness.