

Thomas B. Hochman

Director of Infrastructure Policy, Foundation for American Innovation

Thomas Hochman is the Director of Infrastructure Policy at the Foundation for American Innovation, a think tank based in Washington, D.C.

Hochman leads FAI's infrastructure team, where his work focuses on regulatory reform and energy policy. His research and writing have appeared in the Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, American Affairs, The Hill, National Review, The New Atlantis, The Oxford Institute for Energy Studies, and elsewhere. He holds a B.S. in Statistics from the University of Vermont.