

“Streamlining outdated permitting processes will help electric companies across the nation lower costs for customers and strengthen America's energy dominance,” said EEI President and CEO Drew Maloney. “We appreciate Chairman Westerman and Representative Golden’s leadership and are encouraged to see the SPEED Act's progress through committee. We urge Congress to enact this common-sense solution to meaningfully cut red tape and support the energy infrastructure that powers the American economy.”