

Adam A. Estelle

President & CEO, Copper Development Association, Inc.

(adam.estelle@copperalliance.us)

Adam Estelle is the President & CEO of the U.S.-based Copper Development Association Inc. (CDA, copper.org), the not-for-profit trade association representing the domestic copper and copper alloy industry. With a sharp focus on the needs of upstream copper producers, refiners, and mid-stream semi-finished product manufacturers, he leads strategic initiatives that advance CDA's mission to bring the value of copper to society.

Adam oversees a high-caliber team of technical and market experts that work up and down the value chain, acting as the market development, engineering and knowledge services arm of the industry and chartered to enhance and expand markets for copper and its alloys in North America. Adam joined CDA in 2008, has a B.S. in Materials Science & Engineering from the University of Arizona, and is based in Buffalo, New York.