CAREER OVERVIEW – FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Senior Program Director

Outdoor Recreation Roundtable | Washington, D.C. | 2023 – Present

Key responsibilities include working on the ORR's priority programs including Together Outdoors, Workforce and Rural Development, and with state outdoor recreation offices, to:

- Build out partnerships, plans, and future work that will elevate the entire outdoor sector and serve as project manager on relevant programs;
- Provide strategic oversight and communications around programs;
- Drive program development and engagement with coalition members, ensuring all programs support ORR's 3-year Strategic Plan and that equity and inclusion objectives are embedded in industry-wide programming, hiring practices and ethos;
- Present at member trade shows, conferences, and partner events and provide expertise on ORR programs at conferences and convenings; and
- Develop relationships and lead strategic initiatives for Together Outdoors including its integration through other ORR programs.

Strategic Communications Specialist

U.S. Department of Labor – Wage & Hour Division | Washington, D.C. | 2010 – 2023

- Led key communications processes including the development and management of multi-audience/multi-platform media and rollout plans, and external communications including social media content, press releases, fact sheets, speeches, articles, and media responses—publicizing policy and enforcement developments.
- Led crisis communications strategies and response product development and clearances.
- Staffed Agency Administrator and senior staff by organizing engagements, drafted remarks and media responses, and provided policy briefings to prepare them for presentations to Congress, media, organizations, unions, industry associations, and state and local government officials.
