1           (2) The cypress trees, which were uncovered by

3           still rooted in the mud they were growing in at least 4           50,000 years ago.

5           (3) The Underwater Forest site is unique on a 6           global scale, the only known site where trees between 7           50,000 and 70,000 years old have been preserved in-8           tact with the ecosystem they were growing in.

9           (4) Exploration of the site continues to yield in-
