

Pueblo de San Ildefonso

Governor Moquino is a resident and member of the Pueblo de San Ildefonso. Although he grew up in Albuquerque, NM, he maintained his connection to the Pueblo's rich culture and traditions. He is the proud parent of four children that he shares raising with his fiancée Kim.

Prior to his governorship, he served as Lieutenant Governor, Tribal Councilor and Tribal Administrator for the Pueblo where he focused on improving the delivery of tribal services to community members. He served as a Field Representative for US Senator Jeff Bingaman for eight years, directly working with officials of Northern Pueblos and Tribes, and elected officials of northern New Mexico, within the counties of Rio Arriba, Santa Fe and Los Alamos. During his career, he gained knowledge for appropriately planning, coordination and strategic implementation of capital outlay funds for projects in the areas of housing, water/waste water infrastructure, land and economic development. During his first term as Governor, he successfully lead his community through the COVID-19 pandemic and implementation of ARPA projects. During Governor Moquino's second 3 year term, the protection of natural resources and economic sustainability will remain priorities within the Pueblo de San Ildefonso. In 2022 Governor Moquino was selected and appointed to serve on Secretary Deb Haaland's Secretary Tribal Advisory Committee for the BIA SW Region. The STAC is responsible for addressing concerns, raising awareness and providing recommendations to issues affecting tribal governments across the nation.

He is a graduate of St. Pius X High School and earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of New Mexico.
