

Ken Braun is CRC's managing editor and director of content. He edits Capital Research magazine and other research products. Ken also conducts investigative research and drafts profiles for InfluenceWatch.org. He previously worked for several free market policy organizations, spent six years as a chief of staff in the Michigan Legislature, and also wrote political columns for MLive Media Group, a consortium including the Grand Rapids Press and seven other mid-sized Michigan newspapers. He is an alumnus of Michigan State University.