

Carole Goldberg is Distinguished Research Professor of Law and the Jonathan D. Varat Distinguished Professor of Law Emerita at UCLA, where she founded the Native Nations Law and Policy Center and the Joint Degree Program in Law and American Indian Studies. At UCLA she has served as Vice Chancellor, Academic Personnel, Chair of the Academic Senate, and Associate Dean at the School of Law. She is currently recalled to service as Special Assistant for Professional Development to UCLA Vice Chancellor Academic Personnel Michael Levine. Professor Goldberg also serves as Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of the Hualapai Tribe and Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of the Pechanga Band of Indians. She was one of President Barack Obama's three appointees to the Indian Law and Order Commission, and in 2013 she received the Lawrence R. Baca Lifetime Achievement Award from the Indian Law Section of the Federal Bar Association. Professor Goldberg has written widely about criminal justice, tribal sovereignty and jurisdictional issues, cultural resources, and equal protection in Indian country. Her most recent books are an updated edition of Captured Justice: Native Nations and Public Law 280 (Carolina Academic Press, 2nd ed. 2020) (with Duane Champagne) and A Coalition of Lineages: The Fernandeano Tataviam Band of Mission Indians (University of Arizona Press, 2021) (with Duane Champagne).