

Robert Law is the Director of Regulatory Affairs and Policy for the Center for Immigration Studies (CIS), a Washington, DC-based research institute that examines the impact of immigration on the United States. Robert is a recognized expert on the legal immigration system, and has been quoted in numerous media outlets including The Wall Street Journal, Los Angeles Times, and the Washington Times. From 2017-2021 Robert served in the Trump administration at U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, serving first as a senior policy advisor and then as the chief of the Office of Policy and Strategy.

Robert has a Bachelor's degree from the University of Virginia and a Juris Doctorate from The Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law.