

Biography

Jessica Anne Gorman

Jessica Anne Gorman is, above all else, a proud mother, devoted wife, loving daughter, loyal friend, and longtime resident of Yorktown Heights, New York — the community where she and her husband, Tom, had the joy of raising their two daughters, Madelon and Sheridan.

She has spent more than 25 years as a management and software consultant, helping organizations solve complex operational and technology challenges. She has also served her community as a former competitive cheerleading coach and sports commissioner, dedicating years to encouraging children, building confidence, and strengthening teams — skills that also come in handy with three highly opinionated and unapologetically spoiled doodles.

Jessica is the mother of Sheridan Grace Gorman, an 18-year-old freshman at Loyola University Chicago whose life was taken in March 2026. By nature, Jessica is private, gracious, and measured, but for Shera, she is finding the strength to speak and the courage to carry a mission she will never abandon.

She now advocates for public safety, government accountability, and immigration enforcement policies that prioritize the protection of American citizens. Jessica appears before the Subcommittee to share her family's experience and to ensure that Sheridan's life is remembered not as a statistic, but as a call for justice, accountability, meaningful reform, and the safeguard of innocent American lives.
