Jonathan Rogers serves as the Chief Operating Officer of Centripetal. Jonathan is one of the founders of Centripetal and is an expert in intelligence based cybersecurity and holds multiple U.S and international patents in the field. He is responsible for all operations of the company including security services, product delivery, sales, marketing, finance, and legal. Jonathan previously served as the VP of Operations and as the CFO of Centripetal. Previously Jonathan served as a staff officer and Technical Intelligence Officer within the Directorate of Science & Technology for the Central Intelligence Agency. Prior to his civilian service Jonathan was commissioned as a United States Naval Officer in the Cryptology & Information Warfare Community where he was stationed at the National Security Agency and worked in the National Security Operations Center (NSCO). During his tenure in the Navy Jonathan also deployed worldwide on fast attack submarines. Jonathan holds the Naval Achievement Medal and the Naval Expeditionary Medal and served as part of operation Enduring Freedom (OEF). Jonathan holds a Bachelors degree in Electrical Engineering with a focus in communications systems from Boston University and a Masters in Business Administration from the Robert H. Smith school of business at the University of Maryland.