

Question for the Record from Rep. Issa for Ms. Claire Laporte
“Artificial Intelligence and Intellectual Property: Part III – IP Protection for AI-Assisted Inventions and Creative Works”
April 10, 2024

1. In some industries more than others, significant investment is needed to develop a product following an initial discovery or innovation, even when AI is used to assist in those initial stages. Do you agree that restricting patent protection, such as for AI use, harms those industries because they rely on patents to recoup their investments?
