

Jennifer L. Mascott
Brief Biography

Jennifer Mascott is an Assistant Professor of Law and codirector of the Gray Center for the Study of the Administrative State at the Antonin Scalia Law School of George Mason University. Professor Mascott writes and teaches in the areas of constitutional law, administrative law, the separation of powers, and federal courts. Her scholarship has been cited by the Supreme Court and published in the Stanford Law Review among a number of other publications, and she is a coauthor of the casebook Administrative Law: Cases and Materials with Aspen Publishing. Professor Mascott serves as a Supreme Court contributor for NBC News and is a Public Member of the Administrative Conference of the United States and Council Member for the ABA's Administrative Law Section.

Professor Mascott previously served as an Associate Deputy Attorney General in the U.S. Justice Department and as a Deputy Assistant Attorney General within the department's Office of Legal Counsel. Professor Mascott graduated summa cum laude from the George Washington University Law School where she earned the highest cumulative graduating grade point average on record at the law school. She is a former law clerk to Justice Clarence Thomas and to then-Judge Brett Kavanaugh during his first year on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit.