

Julie Margetta Morgan is the president of The Century Foundation. A policy expert and seasoned leader in both the government and nonprofit sectors, she most recently served as the associate director of research, monitoring and regulations at the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), overseeing the division responsible for setting and advancing the agency's policy agenda. Prior to that role, Julie established the CFPB's Office of Policy Planning and Strategy, where she coordinated the agency's policy agenda across its major divisions and served as a senior advisor to CFPB Director Rohit Chopra. Under Julie's leadership, the CFPB took major steps to curb medical debt, reduce costly junk fees, and promote a fair and competitive financial marketplace.

Prior to joining the CFPB, Julie was deputy under secretary at the U.S. Department of Education and served as acting under secretary, the department's top official on higher education issues. She served on the Biden–Harris transition's COVID-19 response team. Prior to joining the transition, she served as vice president of research at the Roosevelt Institute, senior domestic policy advisor for Warren for President, and co-founder and executive director of the Great Democracy Initiative.

Julie is a graduate of the College of William and Mary. She received her JD and PhD from Boston College.